Agnew asks House probe

SPIRO T. AGNEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew has asked the House of Representatives to hear his case against allegations of political corruption, contending the Constitution forbids criminal actions against him while he is vice president.

What action the House might take on Agnew's request remained unclear.

Leaders said such an investigation might be made by a House committee, but would not rule out the possibility of a hearing through impeachment procedures or even a rejection of Agnew's request.

Agnew asked for the House investigation Tuesday after secret negotiations between Agnew's lawyers and Justice Department officials broke down and Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson announced he had authorized a federal grand jury in Baltimore to begin hearing the Agnew case Thursday.

President Nixon, who met with Agnew Tuesday morning, said the vice president had again personally assured him of his innocence of any wrongdoing.

Nixon issued his strongest statement of support for Agnew since the investigation of the vice president was announced nearly two months ago.

Agnew requested the Capitol Hill hearing in a letter that he hand-delivered to House Speaker Carl Albert. Agnew then met for more than an hour with Albert and other House leaders.

"After the most careful study, my counsel have advised me that the Constitution bars a criminal proceeding of any kind ... against a president or a vice president while he holds office," the Agnew letter said.

"Accordingly, I cannot acquiesce in any criminal proceeding being lodged against me in Maryland or elsewhere, and I cannot look to any such proceeding for vindication. In these circumstances, I believe, it is the right and duty of the vice president to turn to the House.

"I am confident that ... I shall be vindicated by the House," Agnew wrote.

A spokesman for Richardson said that, despite Agnew's legal posture, the decision to go to the grand jury would stand.

Agnew's request caught House members by surprise, and they were unsure what to do about it. Albert said there was no decision during the meeting with the vice president.

Agnew emerged from the session smiling but declined to comment on the matter.

Following the session with Agnew, Albert held an informal leadership meeting in his office, then said he didn't have any idea when a decision would be reached on Agnew's request.

Asked whether an impeachment proceeding had been ruled out, Albert responded: "Nothing has been ruled out."

House Democratic Whip John J. McFall of California said alternatives for action included placing Agnew's request for a hearing before the House, referring it to the Judiciary Committee or a special committee, or ignoring it. He, too, would not rule out impeachment.

Reputation maligned, Buchanan charges

Watergate witness barks back at probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan accused the Senate Watergate committee staff today of maligning his reputation and denied he had any part in political sabotage against Democrats.

In an opening statement before a televised session of the committee, Buchanan said there was "an apparent campaign, orchestrated from within the committee staff, to malign my reputation in the public press prior to my appearance."

He said what he called a "campaign of vilification" is a direct violation of committee rules and asked:

"How can this select committee set itself up as the ultimate arbiter of American political ethics if it cannot even control character assassins within its own ranks?"

Buchanan said he neither recommended, authorized nor was aware of "any ongoing campaign of political sabotage against Sen. (Edmund S.) Muskie or any other Democratic candidate."

Buchanan addressed the committee as the panel opened its probe into political dirty tricks. He is said to have been the author of White House memos that reportedly set the tone and basic strategy for President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

The presidential speechwriter said the contention that Nixon's 1972 presidential campaign committee infiltrated opponents' campaign in an attempt to select its weakest opponent was altogether untrue.

"Republicans were not responsible for the downfall of Muskie; Republicans were not responsible for the nomination of Sen. (George) McGovern," Buchanan said. "The McGovern people won their own nomination — and they lost their own election."

Muskie was the early frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, but the Maine Democrat's campaign faltered and McGovern won the nomination.

Buchanan conceded that he recommended in the spring and summer of 1971 that Republicans concentrate their political resources on Muskie because Muskie was the frontrunner at that time.

"No requirement exists in ethics or logic or law that we provide equal time

Kissinger turns eyes toward Asia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gave some attention to Southeast Asia today for the first time in his visit to the U.N. General Assembly. But Europe continued to be his primary concern.

Other than scattered references, Kissinger ignored the Indochina area in his first two days in New York. Today he scheduled meetings with the foreign ministers of Thailand and South Vietnam.

However, the major part of his schedule before returning to Washington tonight was strong evidence of his near-preoccupation with what he has called a "new Atlantic Alliance."

He was to meet with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert. He also planned to attend the General Assembly address by Brandt.

Very little substantive progress has been made toward developing a new concept of U.S.European relationship during Kissinger's meetings this week.

U.S. officials said discussions Tuesday with the foreign ministers K.B. Andersen of Denmark and Walter Scheel of West Germany produced only one significant development — an agreement for a meeting in the next few days between Walter Stoessel, the assistant secretary of state for Europe, and representatives of the European Common Market.

They will try to draft a declaration of principles, but American sources said at least one more meeting would be needed, probably in Europe next month.

As if to underline the lack of movement so far, the American officials said any decision on a European trip by President Nixon remains for the future.

Kissinger had an inconclusive meeting Tuesday with Arab leaders in which he renewed U.S. offers to assist in opening negotiations for an Arab-Israeli settlement.

But he told them not to expect the United States "to bring forth miracles," and he made no proposals for ending the Arab-Israeli confrontation. The meeting was boycotted by five Arab delegations.

Boyle in coma; suicide attempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. A. "Tony" Boyle, former head of the United Mine Workers Union, remains near death after an apparent suicide attempt on the eve of a court appearance on a murder conspiracy charge.

The 71-year-old ousted union boss had been scheduled for a court appearance Tuesday, but he was rushed to George Washington University Hospital Monday night with what doctors at first thought was a stroke.

His condition was listed as unchanged early today by hospital spokesmen. He was in a coma, and earlier in the day hospital authorities said Boyle was "in very, very critical condition" and "all we can do is support the life systems and wait."

Boyle's hearing was a removal procedure to have him taken to Pennsylvania to face state murder charges in connection with the 1969 slayings of insurgent union leader Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter.

The hearing was postponed until Oct. 24.

Dr. Milton Gusack, Boyle's personal doctor, said blood samples and other tests indicated presence of large amounts of sodium amytal, a strong barbiturate. He said chances for survival were poor.

"It was an apparent effort at self-destruction," said Gusack.

"I don't think this was premeditated, it was on the spur of the moment," he said.

Gusack said Boyle also suffered from heart disease, emphysema and hypertension. He said Boyle visited him Saturday, and the condition of his heart was such that the hearing could have been delayed on medical grounds.

But, Gusack said, Boyle wanted to pursue his case and not hide behind medical problems.

The former UMW boss was arrested Sept. 6, after a 3½-year investigation by state and federal officials.

Seven persons, including several UMW officials, have been convicted for their roles in the Yablonski murders, which Boyle once said he would "swear to Almighty God" that he had no knowledge of.

3 persons killed as twisters hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three persons were killed and scores believed injured as 20 or more tornadoes wracked Kansas and the central plains Tuesday night, the Kansas Highway Patrol reported today.

Heavy rains falling on waterlogged ground triggered new flash-flooding in Kansas and Nebraska.

North-central Kansas was hardest hit with numerous tornadoes. A twister cut a four-block-wide swath through Clay Center, a town of 5,000 northeast of Salina.

As many as 100 were injured, and communications with the town were knocked out, a Red Cross spokesman said.

The spokesman said there was no electricity within a 12-to 15-mile radius of Clay Center. Fifty buildings in the town had major damage and 100 others sustained some damage.

At Greenleaf, a community of 480 some 30 miles northeast of Clay Center, residents were evacuated after an anhydrous ammonia tank ruptured during a tornado.

A mother and two of her children were buried in the wreckage of their home in Greenleaf, and authorities first said all three were presumed dead. But several hours later, the mother was found alive in the wreck-

40 per cent U.S. troop cut voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today voted to reduce the number of U.S. land-based troops overseas by 40 per cent.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, sponsor of the amendment, said, "The time has come to set aside the rhetoric of the cold war used to justify a status quo of military involvement around the world."

But Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops from Europe would undermine negotiations with Warsaw Pact nations for bilateral pullbacks. "This would imperil the future of the United States," Tower said.

Mansfield had originally proposed a 50 per cent cut in the number of foreign-based U.S. troops, but changed the proposal at the last minute to a 40 per cent cut.

Mansfield said that when servicemen's dependents, U.S. civilians and foreign nationals hired to assist Americans are included, the United States has a force of 1.1 million persons in foreign countries.

He said this costs U.S. taxpayers $30 billion a year, with $17 billion of that amount attributed to maintenance of troops in Europe.

He said a reduction in the 500,000-man force is essential to lower the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit, fill domestic needs and end the policy of military confrontation with the Soviets.

The Mansfield amendment would require that at least 50,000 troops based in foreign countries be pulled out by next June 30, and that another 150,000 be withdrawn over the following two years.

The Senate also was to begin public debate today on a proposal to slow development of the $13 billion Trident submarine program. The Trident amendment was discussed for more than two hours in closed session Tuesday.

A vote on the Trident amendment was scheduled for Thursday.

FDA orders mushroom toxin hunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has ordered a nationwide search for canned mushrooms it says may be contaminated with lethal botulin toxin.

The FDA made the announcement Tuesday after disclosing that federal inspections of 42 mushroom processing plants disclosed that half had deficient procedures or equipment.

Botulism poisoning from the toxin can be fatal if not diagnosed and treated promptly.

The FDA said it is searching more than 5,000 warehouses for the suspect cans. FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt said 350 food inspectors plus state and local officials were joining in the search.

"We are convinced that the effort is necessary to end the sporadic problems we have encountered with canned mushrooms this year," said Schmidt.

Specific canned mushroom brands have been recalled five times this year.

The FDA advised consumers who encounter swollen or leaking cans not to open or eat them but to contact their nearest FDA office.

Memory returns after 37 years

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Thirty-seven years ago, John R. Crosswhite left his home in Cape Girardeau, Mo., on a business trip to St. Louis. He never returned and although his wrecked car was found, Crosswhite's body was never discovered.

Five years later, a man named John R. Cross, who described himself as a retired contractor, settled in Joplin, Mo., married in 1942 and raised a family.

Cross recently suffered a stroke. As he recovered, he began remembering bits of his past and it turned out that Cross and Crosswhite — who was declared legally dead in 1940, leaving a widow and five children — are the same man.

Martha Jane Barker, a nurse at St. John's Medical Center here and one of two children of the Joplin marriage, said the tale came to light as her father recuperated.

"He started talking and babbling to me and saying his name was really John R. Crosswhite and that 'we need to get something straightened'," Mrs. Barker said.

"We thought he was just delirious and ignored it, but he kept insisting, and a couple of days later he began crying and said he wanted to see his brother," she continued.

"We told him there was no brother, but he insisted there was," she said, noting her father had told her he was an only child. She said he also had told her he was a widower before marrying her mother.

"He finally told us to call the Crosswhites in the Enid (Okla.) area, so I finally located Frank Crosswhite in Hennessey, one of his brothers.

"I knew they were brothers when I saw Frank because they look so much alike," she said.

Frank said he had visited his brother, now 84, twice in the Joplin nursing home where he is now staying. "He didn't remember me at first, but since I've been going to see him, he knows me now."

Mrs. Barker said her father's doctor, Dr. E.H. Hamilton, told her Crosswhite "had a type of of amnesia where he remembered the most important things in his young life, then had a big blank."

Skylab crew home; feeling fine

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doctors were elated with the physical conditions of the Skylab 2 astronauts today after their record 59½-dayspacemission.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma planned to sleep late aboard the recovery carrier headed for San Diego, Calif.

The astronauts blazed back to earth Tuesday in a perfect ending to their journey. They splashed down six miles from the recovery ship which was waiting about 230 miles southwest of San Diego.

The three were quickly hoisted aboard the New Orleans with their precious cargo of films, tapes and other data which could provide vital information about the sun, the earth and man himself.

The astronauts walked a bit wobbly when they stepped on the carrier deck after their long exposure to space weightlessness.

Smiling and happy, they waved and saluted the hundreds of sailors who lined up for a look at the nation's newest space heroes.

They were quickly taken to a medical facility for extensive examinations.

A medical report said none of the spacemen suffered from motion sickness and all three had normal blood pressures and heart rates.

The report said there was some evidence of "vestibular disturbance," such as dizziness. But this was expected as part of the process of readapting to earth's gravity.

"All three crewmen are in excellent spirits and they feel well," said the report. "Physicians are very elated with the crew condition at this point."

Dr. Royce Hawkins, the chief astronaut physician, credited their good health to a rigid exercise program while they were in space.

The astronauts will be under careful medical scrutiny for another 18 days. They will maintain a strict diet and collect all urine and fecal samples for examination as they have done since 21 days before they were launched July 28.

More tests were planned aboard the New Orleans today and Thursday. On Thursday afternoon, the astronauts will fly back to their homes near Houston's Johnson Space Center.

Within an hour after the astronauts were aboard the carrier Tuesday, they talked with their families and received a message of congratulations from President Nixon.

Skylab 2's 24-million mile journey had a safe and accurate ending, the trademark of U.S. space flights in recent years.

The Apollo ship ferrying the astronauts from the Skylab station dropped under orange and white parachutes into whitecapped waves, within range of television cameras.

"Man, that was a spectacular entry!" said Lousma through a special communications hookup after the spacecraft was on the water. "I like the bang when the main chute comes out. Golly, I'd like to do it again!"

House OKs compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a compromise $9.9 billion appropriation bill to finance farm, food stamp, school milk, consumer and environment protection programs.

The measure, sent to the Senate for final action on a 348-24 vote Tuesday, is $408 million above the Nixon administration's request.

Over-all, the bill, covering the year that began July 1, is $2.8 billion under the previous year's level.

See big Skylab payoff

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The research conducted by the Skylab 2 astronauts may provide a tremendous payoff in expanding man's knowledge of himself, his earth and his sun.

No one can predict the benefits. But the thousands of photos and miles of tape could lead to an endless source of pollution-free energy, a catalog of the world's resources and new metals and materials.

The payoff will be slow in coming, however.

Years may be required to evaluate completely the data obtained from the Skylab 1 and 2 crews and that still to come from Skylab 3. After the Skylab 2 astronauts returned to earth Tuesday after their record 59½-day mission, NASA Administrator James B. Fletcher summed up the importance of Skylab this way:

"Skylab marks the transition of the space program from a period dominated by exploration to a period dominated by exploitation of the space around us as a global resource.

"Space is a place, a very unique place and a new important resource that can be used for the benefit of people everywhere on earth ..."

Skylab 2 brought home 77,600 pictures of the sun snapped through six solar telescopes and more than 12,000 pictures and 18 miles of computer tape gathered during earth resources surveys.

Add to that 30,000 sun photos and 3,000 earth photos collected by the Skylab 1 crew, and scientists declared it a bonanza.

Perhaps, more important, the astronauts came back in apparent good health, proving that man can adapt to the weightless environment of space.

Watergate case

in political response to each of our political opponents," the Nixon speechwriter said.

The committee on Tuesday ended its lengthy examination of the Watergate break-in.

Convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. ended two days of testimony Tuesday, stating that the Watergate operation was lawful and that the break-in team was betrayed by a double agent for the Democrats.

Hunt, a former CIA agent, acknowledged undertaking a series of covert activities for the White House and for the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Committee sources said the panel has evidence linking Hunt to another break-in, this one at the embassy of Chile. But the matter was not brought up Tuesday.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. listed the aid the CIA is known to have supplied Hunt and other members of the White House Special Investigations Unit, aid used in the break-in of the office of the psychiatrist treating Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

Baker asked Hunt if he could state the CIA was not involved in other domestic activities.

"No, sir, nor can I say the CIA has ever stayed out of domestic activity," Hunt replied.

Hunt said he wanted to consult with his attorney on the national security aspects that might be involved in a more complete reply. Baker then excused him from answering.

Hunt said he directed the Ellsberg break-in and had asked his former CIA associates to help prepare a psychiatric profile on the former Defense Department official for use in undermining Ellsberg's position in the press.

Committee aides said Buchanan is being called as a witness to set the stage for the set of hearings dealing with political dirty tricks.

"It's not right to think that he was involved in dirty tricks himself," a committee aide said, and added:

"He was their strategist. He was their thinker. He set the tone. He wrote the memos on how to run a political campaign.

Buchanan, 34, has been associated with Nixon since 1966 and worked in his 1968 presidential campaign.

Hunt has been in prison under provisional sentence for more than six months and appeared tired and drawn as he ended his testimony.

At one point, he suggested strongly that former FBI agent Alfred C. Baldwin III, the lookout during the Watergate break-in, may actually have been working for Democrats.

Also killed was a 70-year-old Niles woman whose home was crushed by a metal storage bin.

Union Pacific Railroad officials said 30 cars of a freight train were blown off the tracks at Hanover.

At Salina, the storm hit a mobile home park, and authorities said virtually all 44 homes were damaged extensively or demolished. Another mobile home park at Bennington, north of Salina, was damaged.

Tornadoes were sighted in Oklahoma and Nebraska, and tornado watches were issued throughout the night from the Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma into southeast Nebraska and western Iowa.

Flash-flood warnings were issued for parts of Kansas and Nebraska. Moderate to heavy rains drifted slowly eastward.

Almost four inches of rain swamped Epley Airport in Omaha, Neb., and heavy rain was still falling. More than an inch was measured at Russell and Dodge City, Kan., and Lincoln, Neb.

Other thunderstorms lingered in southern Texas, along the central and southern Atlantic coastal plain, in Florida and in parts of the northern Great Lakes region. A few showers dampened the northern Rockies.

A subtropical depression with winds as high as 35 miles per hour gained strength about 100 miles off the Georgia coast. Tides of one to three feet above normal were expected along the Georgia and Carolina coasts.

Milk price spiral seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio consumers may be paying as much as 12 cents more a gallon for milk after Oct. 1 when dairy farmers begin charging more for their product.

The Central Ohio Co-operative Milk Producers and Great Lakes-Southern Milk cooperatives said Tuesday the price of milk sold to company buyers will be hiked 60 cents per hundredweight by farmers.

A spokesman for Borden, Inc., one such company buyer, said, "There will be definitely a larger increase than normal in the price of milk. It probably will be more than consumers are accustomed to."

The Borden spokesman, however, declined to say what the company will be charging for milk after Oct. 1.

An official of the Ohio Department of Agriculture said retail milk prices will go up about 12 cents a gallon, based on the increase to the farmers.

The new price will be $9.21 per hundredweight. The federal government has set the minimum price at $8.08.

Donald E. Zehr, general manager of the Central Ohio Co-operative, said the purpose of the hike is to make farmers' prices more current with market demands. Another purpose, he said, is to assure that milk supplies will be available.

Zehr noted milk production in Ohio is about 7 per cent lower than last year at the same time. He added that the current price hike is an incentive to dairy farmers to stay in the business.

Sextuplets' mom returns home

DENVER (AP) — The mother of the Stanek sextuplets is resting at home today. Doctors say her five surviving babies will start to join her in about a month.

Edna Stanek, 34, wore a blue bathrobe as a nurse pushed her in a wheelchair to the door of Colorado General Hospital, where her husband Eugene waited with the family car.

"She is in fine health and getting along well," said Mrs. Stanek's obstetrician, Dr. Tibor Engel. He said he has prescribed no special precautions for her.

Governors hear Nader on A-plants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The chairman of the Western Governors' Conference says Ralph Nader's vow to halt the construction of nuclear power plants would, if successful, create "a crisis of the most immense proportions imaginable."

The consumer advocate told the governors Tuesday to expect a nationwide legal, environmental and governmental battle that could make the successful fight to halt the supersonic transport look like a spring picnic.

Nader's goal is to bring the nation's nuclear electric power program to a complete halt in five years.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall told Nader, "I think you could do it."

McCall, a Republican, continued: "But what will we do with this investment, what will we do with the need for this 75 million kilowats if you're successful?"

McCall talked of the fear that might grip the nation about atomic power plants and said: "It seems to me then we'll face a crisis of the most immense proportions imaginable."

The West's governors have looked to nuclear-generated power as a major source of electricity. There now are 36 nuclear plants across the country and 70 more are planned.

Nader said the loss of economic investment was worth the price in the face of the prospect of a disastrous nuclear accident.

He also accused the Atomic Energy Commission of "conscious deception, suppression and prevarication" in hiding the risk of danger in nuclear power production.

AEC Commissioner William Doub, the next speaker, immediately challenged Nader, saying Nader was confused in both his facts and opinion. He offered to open AEC files to any information Nader wanted short of atomic military secrets.

The National Weather Service promised Indian Summer conditions in Ohio today and Thursday, with a chance of a few scattered thundershowers developing in the afternoon and tonight, mostly confined to the northwestern counties.

Southerly winds flowing around the back side of a high pressure system centered over the east coast, and widespread sunshine will bring Indian Summer to the state, forecasters said. Afternoon temperature readings for both today and Thursday will climb into the 80s and lows will drop only into the 60s.

There were clear to partly cloudy skies over Ohio Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. While a few radar echoes were reported Tuesday night in the northwest corner of the state, no rainfall was measured on the ground.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.64 at 946.19. On the New York Stock Exchange, 723 issues advanced and 462 declined among 1,580 exchanged. Trading was moderately heavy.

The noon NYSE index of some 1,500 common stocks was ahead .28 at 58.53.

Bethlehem Steel rose ¾ to 33½ to lead Big Board trading, followed by Fannie Mae, down ⅛ at 21⅜, and Syline Corp., off 1⅞ at 16¼. American Metal Climax was 1¼ ahead at 41⅝.

Agnew charges

held a hastily assembled conference and heard their leaders warn against public comment on Agnew's case in view of the fact they may be called on to sit as a jury should there be an impeachment case.

Impeachment cases are initiated by the House and tried by the Senate.

The case has been simmering since first publicly disclosed Aug. 6.

On that day, Agnew announced that he had been notified by federal prosecutors in Baltimore that he was under investigation for possible violation of tax, bribery, extortion and conspiracy laws. Agnew has repeatedly proclaimed his innocence.

Tuesday morning Richardson and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen met with Nixon to evaluate the Agnew case for the President. Nixon then met with Agnew for more than an hour.

Richardson said that since Sept. 12 he had been meeting with other Justice Department officials, with Agnew's attorneys and with the vice president himself "to discuss procedural aspects of the case and options available to the vice president."

Richardson said the department agreed to the discussions in hopes of resolving "a constitutional dilemma of potentially serious consequence to the nation."

He did not elaborate but apparently referred to the constitutional question of whether a vice president can be indicted before he is impeached.

But, Richardson said, the discussions failed and the decision was made to go to the grand jury. He left open the question of whether the panel would seek an indictment.

"The grand jury will be used, in accordance with well-established practice, as an investigative body," Richardson's statement said.

A spokesman for Richardson later said evidence would be presented to the grand jury in its investigative rather than its indicting role, but noted that the panel already had indicted one Maryland official, Baltimore County Executive Dale Anderson.

Later in the day, following Agnew's trip to Capitol Hill, Nixon issued a strong statement of support for his vice president and a plea that Agnew be given the right to a fair hearing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Carl Albert said today the House will take no action at this time on Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's request for an investigation of charges of kickbacks and bribery.

Agnew requested such a hearing in a letter to Albert on Tuesday. The vice president contends that a grand jury investigating the same allegations does not have the constitutional authority to do so as long as he is in office.

After a conference this morning with House Democratic leaders, Albert handed out a brief statement and refused to answer any questions.

"The vice president's letter relates to matters before the courts," the statement said. "In view of that fact, I, as speaker, will not take any action on the letter at this time."

Farm Progress Show highlights good year

LEBANON, Ind. (AP) — The traveling salesmen say this is a good year for dirt farmers in the outdoor food factory that stretches from Minnesota to the Carolinas.

It may even be a great year if there is a dry, warm late fall. That would reduce the need for short-supply propane gas and fuel oil used in grain dryers.

The massive dryers with their roaring heaters and batteries of fans are among the big tag items on display at the Farm Progress Show sprawling over the Hoffman family's 900 acres near Lebanon.

A $25,000 tag raises no eyebrows in the miles of tractors, tillage tools and harvesting machines.

As a matter of fact, none of the glittering equipment is for sale.

A Massey-Harris agent said the firm has a six-month backlog of orders for tractors and harvesters. Ron Smith of Des Moines, of the company's shows and exhibits department, had taken a swing through the Midwest and reported crops were maturing fast, although there is some late corn in northern Illinois.

Case, which makes no harvesters, was quoting January delivery dates for its popular four-wheel-drive Model 2470 tractor.

John Deere, one of the biggest farm machinery producers, is taking orders for combines it hopes to deliver in time to harvest next summer's wheat.

There was a lot of late planting this spring in low grounds and none at all in some of the Mississippi River bottoms swept by floods.

Don Pyle, a market specialist from Troy, Mich., said alternate wet and dry weather, followed by a heat wave in early September that reached into Canada, produced fast growth. Some corn is even ahead of normal maturity dates.

Several of the farm machinery men who travel the state fair circuit were amazed at soybeans' rush toward maturity in the last two weeks.

Both corn and soybeans are ripe enough for harvesting demonstrations on the Hoffman farm. They were planted in mid May.

Nobody reported a shortage of equipment to get in the fall grain crops. The heavy orders, after a decline in sales most places last year, caught the manufacturers by surprise.

It seems to be a matter of farmers' wants rather than desperate need. Prairie Farmer Magazine, which sponsors the big machinery show, noted in the current issue that buying expensive tools is helpful as a tax writeoff in a year of big gross farm incomes.

There is no admission charge, so no count of attendance, but it appeared at least 50,000 farmers and their wives trudged muddy streets of the temporary city Tuesday at the opening of the three-day show.

Hundreds of varieties of hybrid corn and soybeans, grown under identical conditions, attracted as much attention as the machinery. It was a sharp comparison and left little doubt which corn was subject to northern corn leaf blight. It was brown and droopy. Resistant corn still had some green leaves although the big yellow ears were drying fast.

A plowing demonstration with giant rigs was the center of attraction late Tuesday.

"Holy cow," one young matron exclaimed. "Twelve bottoms!"

A thorn with the rose

There is a small but quite sharp thorn on the stem of the rose which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has handed to Henry A. Kissinger. While the committee did vote to approve his confirmation as secretary of state, at the same time it undertook a study of surveillance of American citizens in connection with foreign policy-related activities.

Committee Chairman J.W. Fulbright said this action was not to be construed as implied criticism of the part Kissinger played in the wiretapping of government officials and newsmen. The timing of the resolution suggests at very least, however, that the committee wants to underscore its serious view of the wiretapping episode.

Announcement of the study could have been delayed for a month or so, but it was not. This suggests an intention to remind Kissinger — and, by extension, the President — that the committee has grave reservations about the use of electronic and other surveillance for this purpose.

These reservations became evident in the course of the hearings on the nomination. Such was the committee's concern that it arranged for a two-member subcommittee to examine an FBI summary of the wiretaps by way of determining Kissinger's part in ordering them. Not until the subcommittee reported that his role "was not such as to bar him from confirmation by the Senate" did the Foreign Relations Committee give its approval.

Apart from all this, it is gratifying to learn that a broad study of surveillance of American citizens in connection with foreign affairs is to be undertaken. When the report is in — assuming, of course, that all but the most security-sensitive parts of it are made public — that should provide much better perspective on this dubious practice.

The timid incumbents

WASHINGTON — Sens. Ervin, Baker, Weicker and thr rest of the pride of Watergate lions seem to be ready to turn into pussycats. The special Senate committee has delayed or abolished some of its plans and maybe there's a common reason.

The committee's new timidity coincides with its venture into the ferocious area of campaign financing. The dangers in this territory match all the perils offered by public boredom or President Nixon's intransigence.

There is no way to reform, there is no way to even discuss presidential campaign financing without discussing senatorial campaign financing.

THE PROBLEM of the Senate Committee is as stark as the Biblical admonition: Let he who is without campaign contributions cast the first stone.

As sterling gents as all the committee members may be, their political careers are not nourished by the donations of anonymous philanthropists. The people who financed their campaigns, like those who bankroll other campaigns, expect a return on their investments.

The influence of big money on politics is the single greatest curse on the Republic today. Campaign cash financed what happened at Watergate. Campaign cash in general breeds distrust and suspicion among voters, often for good reason.

The people doing more about this issue than anyone else are the quarter-million Americans who belong to Common Cause. A lengthy study on campaign finances by the citizens' lobby showed that not only is the President the object of large gobs of legal-tender goodwill; just about every incumbent is.

IN SENATE races last year, each incumbent raised an average of $525,809. The average challenger raised less than half that amount, $243,070.

"The money flows to incumbents because it is an incumbent who has the power to provide help and assistance," says Fred Wertheimer of Common Cause. "The result is that in Congress today we have neither a Democratic nor Republican party. Rather, we have an Incumbency party which operates a monopoly. The only solution is to enact a system for public financing of elections."

That is a fair challenge, to the timid members of the Watergate committee and to their more anonymous — and probably more venal — congressional brethren.

If the incumbency party cannot muster a majority for a sensible campaign reform bill, then voters can easily decide that incumbents shouldn't be incumbents anymore.

Our environmental elitists

Has anyone noticed how the elitists, people who have already "got theirs," tend to take over the environmentalist movement?

I first got on to this when the Sierra Club, which thinks that every last speck of wilderness should be preserved just as it is, went all out to stop the Walt Disney enterprises from building an attractive Alpine ski resort in the Sierrra Nevada mountains that would be within weekend driving range of Los Angeles.

The Sierra Club idea was to preserve the high Sierras for pack trips. But the number of people who can afford a pack trip is necessarily limited to a few who have both time and money to spend.

If the Sierra Club is to prevail in its philosophy, it will mean that nature will be reserved for a few lucky sons of the rich. The environmentalist's attitude here is anti-common man, a snob's reaction to the human situation.

Many people can afford ski weekends who can't afford pack trips.

THE AGITATION against the building of the Alaskan pipeline is another example of elitism. The very few who can afford to go and have a look at a caribou speak of the eerie beauty of the Arctic tundra. I would not despoil the tundra, and I am all for helping the caribou preserve their migratory patterns.

But ecology, which involves a study of the relationship of living organisms to their natural environment, assumes that men must live with other men as well as with animals they will never see. Human well-being in winter demands heat, and man's "migratory patterns," which are as important to most people as any food-seeking routes are to caribou, necessitate fuel for cars, planes, ships and trains.

Is it so cruel, then, to ask for a trade-off between caribou desires and human needs? Particularly when we are reassured that caribou have enough common animal sense to walk up an occasional ramp.

The ecological elitists would save every last redwood tree in California. I am certainly for preserving the best virgin forest stands, but not everybody can afford to go and look at a redwood. An East Coast dweller with no opportunity to take trips to California might be forgiven if he were to express his esthetic delight by ordering redwood paneling for a stay-at-home room.

Where does the balance lie here? The elitist would force everybody to find time and money to travel where the redwoods are.

The elitist, who presumably lives in a suburb where temperature extremes are not particularly onerous, objects to the strip-mining of Western low-sulfur coal to bring air-conditiong to big Eastern and Soutern cities. But the Western coal-bearing lands are relatively empty, and the nights are cruelly hot during an August torrid spell in New York City or Washington, D.C.

The elitist would let dwellers by the Hudson or the Potomac Rivers swelter. And this despite the fact that strip-mined territory can — and, indeed, should — be restored by methods that are already in use in a few enlightened places.

THE ECOLOGICAL ELITIST even seems to have a "thing" about poor folk in the so-called Third World. The millions who live in Africa, tropical Asia, and the islands of the South Seas have an ecological prejudice against yielding the dominance of their "ecosystems" to malaria-bearing mosquitos.

But the elitist in the non-malarial temperate zones of the West would deny the benefits of mosquito-killing DDT even to lands where there are no species of birds who would be harmed by it.

The trouble with the ecological elitists is that they don't realize that technological advance is absolutely necessary if the millions now inhabiting the globe are to go on living.

The elitists have theirs, and they don't care who else freezes.

Technology admittedly entails pollution, but technology can also accomplish its own marvels of preserving and recycling, and it is surely up to building a few ramps or underpasses for the caribou.

Hal Boyle . Down Memory Lane with Hal

NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are among the few things that improve with age.

It's not only the good memories that get better. A memory that makes you cringe when young may make you laugh as you grow older and get more tolerant—and forgive yourself some of the indiscretions of youth.

Even the memories that gave you a sharp agony, like a nail thrust to the heart, tend to smooth out with the healing passage of time. Something that was once almost unbearable to remember later becomes, in its way, a kind of consolation to recall.

So do our memories become the tender keystones of our being, the part of ourselves that give us most of our individuality. At the end, we are our memories—and very little else.

You've got a good hoard of them if you can look back and remember' when:

A bug was an insect, not a device for listening to someone else's telephone conversations.

Children in rural America had to swallow a spring tonic made of sulphur and molasses. In England, it was called brimstone and treacle.

To achieve success in later life, a boy had to be born on a farm or, if born in the city, start delivering a newspaper route at an early age. The only other traditional way to launch his career was to sell the Saturday Evening Post to his neighbors on Saturday.

The village idiot—and few villages were rich enough to have two—served a highly useful social function. He made everyone else able to feel superior. His own ego-satisfaction came from the knowledge that he was by far the best-known person in town.

You could tell a priest by his collar and a nun by her habit.

A mother didn't like her daughter to have a date with any young man she had seen going into a pool hall or bowling alley.

The biggest family argument a girl who wanted a college education ran into was: "If you plan to get married, what good will it do you; and if you don't get married, what kind of life will you have?"

Most bartenders wore walrus mustaches and kept a baseball bat handy behind the bar to settle friendly disputes among the clientele.

A girl who dared to wear slacks to school would be sent home by the teacher with a firm note to her mother.

Men were banned from public beaches if they showed up in swim suits that left their chests bare.

Every other family in the neighborhood felt sorry for a family that had only one child.

There were more golden wedding celebrations in America than divorce parties.

Those were the days—remember?

Readers defend girl's right to ride

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the 13-year-old Jewish girl who was chosen to represent her county in a horse show, but because it fell on the High Holy Days, her parents wouldn't let her: Now, I am a Jewish grandmother, and I think the girl should be allowed to ride on the holiday. Loving horses the way she does, if she is forced to miss this big event, she will grow to resent or even hate her Jewishness.

Some Jews think that going to the High Holy Day services makes them good Jews. I disagree.

I think your telling the child that she had no choice but to obey her parents was wrong.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the 13-year-old Jewish girl whose parents refused to let her ride in the horse show because it fell on the High Holy Days is one I would like to answer.

I understand exactly how that girl feels because I am a 14-year-old Jewish girl who also loves horses.

Since Yom Kippur is the Jewish holiday when Jews are supposed to fast, why not have the girl tell her parents that if they let her ride in the horse show on that day she will promise not to eat anything, and after she finishes with the show, the rest of the say she will observe the holiday the way her parents want her to?

ALSO JEWISH

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the Jewish girl whose parents wouldn't let her participate in the horse show on a Jewish holiday. The girl's resentment should be directed not to her parents or to the Jewish faith, but to the organization that scheduled the horse show on a Jewish holiday.

Calendars are available to all clubs and organizations showing the important religious holidays of all minority groups, so there is no excuse for scheduling an important event on a day that would conflict with one's religious observances. Would they have scheduled a horse show on Easter or Christmas?

With the increasing awareness of the rights of minorities, some progress has been made, but we still have a long way to go.

A CONSCIENTIOUS CATHOLIC

DEAR ABBY: Both your attitude and that of the girl's parents burned me up!

The girl obviously is extremely interested and involved in horses and horse shows. She has had to work very hard with her horse to be selected to represent her county. This is her passion, her main joy in life, and what she wants to devote her energies to.

She is an invididual, a complete human being-not the property of her parents. It would seem that parents should be glad that their child is involved in such a hard-working and constructive activity.

Judaism does not mean that much to the girl now. Have her own desires and opinions less value because she is younger than her parents?

The girl will give more thought and time to religion in her own time when she is ready for it. To frustrate the constructive, joyous energy in her now would be a mistake.

J.D.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nielsen ratings for "premiere week" this television season provided good news for CBS but potential problems for eight new series — four of which flopped, by ratings standards, on opening night.

When last year's season began, four new series were rated among the nation's most popular. This year, no new series started in the top 20 during the season's first week, according to Nielsen figures for Sept. 10-16.

The week's top-rated show was "Planet of the Apes," a CBS Friday night movie seen in an estimated 22.2 million homes. What this means is not clear, but you'd better ask your broker about banana futures.

The returns for the season's first week showed that viewers preferred old favorites by a wide margin, although the new shows may gain strength when the channel-flipping gets serious.

CBS won the first ratings round with 15 entries listed in the top 20. "All in the Family," a consistent winner last season, was rated as the nation's second most popular show after "Planet."

It was followed by six other CBS offerings, "M-A-S-H," "Hawaii Five-O," "Mary Tyler Moore," "CBS Tuesday Night Movie," "Bob Newhart" and "Barnaby Jones."

Then, according to the Nielsen list, came "ABC Thursday Night Movie," "Cannon," "Maude" and "Carol Burnett" (all three CBS), "Sanford & Son" (NBC), "ABC Sunday Night Movie," "Gunsmoke" and "The Waltons" (both CBS), "Ironside" (NBC), "Sonny & Cher" (CBS), "NBC Monday Night Movies" and "Lucy" (CBS).

At the bottom of the 58-program list was the Democratic party's fund-raising telethon, aired by NBC Sept. 15. It was seen in only an estimated 4.3 million homes between 8 and 11 p.m., Nielsen figures said.

During premiere week, NBC broadcast five new shows; CBS, two; ABC, one. Of these shows, CBS' "Calucci's Dept.," ABC's "Adam's Rib" and NBC's "Chase" and "Girl with Something Extra" laid rating eggs.

None reached or rose above 30 per cent in the category Nielsen calls "share of audience," or the estimated national percentage of viewers tuned to competing shows during a given hour.

Networks generally consider the 30 per cent mark the make-or-break point for a series, although it won't be known for at least a month if the four new series are in deep trouble or stand a chance of survival.

But "Calucci" and "Adam's Rib" got off to a particularly bad start, tying for 52nd place in the Nielsen rankings.

None of the four other new shows registered strongly, although they all at least reached or slightly exceeded the magic 30 per cent mark.

NBC's "Diana," starring Diana Rigg, did the best of the lot. It was ranked 29th among the 58 programs rated. CBS' "New Perry Mason" was installed in 31st place, and NBC's "Lotsa Luck" and "NBC Follies", in 32nd and 34th, respectively.

General Telephone talks broken off

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Renewed talks between General Telephone Co. officials and representatives of striking communications workers broke off early today, apparently without settlement of their 73-day contract dispute.

A company spokesman said there were indications no further meetings would be held until Oct. 4.

The firm and members of the Communications Workers of America appeared close agreement Tuesday. A union official said at the time the company was ready to offer a new proposal.

But sources on both sides refused to comment on specifics of the talks.

The new bargaining session was agreed to after a stormy session before the Ohio Industrial Commission.

Two officials for General Telephone walked out of the meeting at one point when commission members indicated they intended to review all aspects of the strike.

Andrew Jones, company attorney, said the company only agreed to arbitrate its charge that the CWA renigged on a handshake agreement the company claimed was reached earlier this month.

Jones returned to the meeting, however, to hear the union's attorney, Melvin Schwarzwald, ask the commission to postpone the hearing because "we feel an agreement is close."

Commission chairman Gregory Stebbins asked Jones: "Do you agree?"

Jones replied, "I would agree with what Mr. Schwarzwald said."

Stebbins continued the commission hearing until Oct. 4 pending settlement of the strike.

About 2,800 operators, clerks and installer-repairmen have been on strike since July 16.

Since then the company has reported more than $1 million in damage to cables and relay stations.

A 61-year-old Marion man died of a heart attack Monday when his wife could not call for help because of damaged telephone lines in the area, police said.

General Telephone claims an agreement was reached Sept. 11 with local union officials but then international officials backed out.

Election reform plans are studied

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Oct. 22 special session of the 110th Ohio General Assembly is being asked to enact election and campaign financing reforms that would be in effect for 1974 elections.

Gov. John J. Gilligan called the session and told the lawmakers it presents them an opportunity to week to restore public conficence in government.

"Never have we had a better opportunity, with a more receptive public atmosphere, to outlaw all the sleazy practices which have undermined our electoral system, and have shaken our people's faith in their government," Gilligan said.

Ohio Perspective

Gilligan listed some of the proposals he wants to see enacted into law so they can be in effect at the outset of next year's campaigns. Bills require 90 days to become law unless they contain an emergency clause, and that takes a two-thirds vote of both houses.

A spokesman said a new campaign financing bill is being drafted by the administration. It is expected to be similar to one left pending in the House after being introduced by Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster.

Maddux's proposal places a 15 cent-a-voter limit on candidates for major races — such as governor, U.S. senator, congressman, or members of the legislature. An amoung equal to 1½ times the salary of the office sought is the amount that could be spent to run for auditor, treasurer, lieutenant governor, and attorney-general.

Gilligan also called for enactment by the special session of bills relaxing voter residency and registration requirements and extending voting hours.

These measures were approved by the House during the regular session this year but never made it through the Senate. They would:

—Reduce the voter residency requirement from six months to 30 days. Federal law already has been changed to make 30 days the requirement for voting in a presidential election.

—Reduce the period of time that lapses between primary and general elections. Primaries would be held in September instead of May in non-presidential years. In presidential years, they would be held on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in June.

—Permit door-to-door registration by "neighborhood" registrars who would be paid 10 cents for every voter they sign up. The same bill would eliminate failure to vote as a reason for cancelling registration, and permit the sick, elderly, or disabled to register by mail.

—Make recounts mandatory at public expense when the deciding margin of a candidate or an issue is less than one half of one per cent of the total votes cast.

Couple united in marriage in candlelight ceremony

Grace United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday evening, Sept. 22, for the candlelight wedding of Miss Mary Ann Hopkins and Mr. Phillip Wayne Bowers of Columbus. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. Hopkins, 660 Warren Ave., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Wayne Bowers of Chillicothe.

Nuptial music by Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, and Mr. Ralph May, vocalist, preceded the ceremony.

Seven branch candelabra decorated with pink bows and lavender asters, and altar vases filled with white gladioli, pink carnations and asters enhanced the latar. Lavender and pink bows trimmed the pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length princess gown of candlelight Alencon lace over satin. The high neckline and long sleeves were trimmed in satin with tiny self-covered buttons down the front of the gown. Her veil of candlelight illusion was held by a chapel cap covered in matching lace and ended in a cathedral train. She carried a bridal bouquet of white Fuji mums centered with pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis, with eggshell ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Michael Flynn, matron of honor, wore a floral polyester floor length gown in shades of pink and lavender, fashioned in the empire style with short puffed sleeves. The bridesmaids dresses were styled like the honor attendant. The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Bower, sister of the groom, Miss Colleen Russell, Miss Lynn Alexander, Miss Diane Davis and Mrs. Steve Fligor, all of Columbus. The attendants carried hurricane lamps circled with lavender asters and pink sweetheart roses.

Michael Flynn served as best man. Ushers were John Hopkins, brother of the bride, Keith Putnam, cousin of the groom of Frankfort, Steve Lewis of Springfield; Tom Hixon of Greenfield and Jan Butts of Columbus.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length gown of pink polyester with an accordian pleated skirt and full chiffon sleeves, with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids. The mother of the groom wore a formal length, long sleeved gown with black bodice and black and white floral flounced skirt with matching accessories. Her corsage, too, was of pink cymbidoum orchids.

Grandparents of the bridal couple attending were Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, Mrs. S. Glenn Willson and Mr. and Mrs. V.T. Bowers. The grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception took place in Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with pink and lavender flowers, topped with a bouquet which matched the bridesmaids. Greenery with asters and roses circled the base of the cake. A crystal punch bowl and silver candleholders completed the setting.

Hostesses for the reception were Miss Terri Dumford, Miss Tova Woodmansee, Miss Dee Denen and Mrs. James Eubanks of West Virginia. Miss Sandy Rhoads presided at the guest book.

Out-of-town guests were from Sioux Falls, S. Dak., Pompano Beach, Fla., Greenville, S. Car., Chillicothe, Frankfort, Greenfield and Columbus.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Bowers are honeymooning at Niagara Falls and in the Eastern states. When they return they will reside at 2747 Coldstream Lane, Columbus.

Mrs. Bowers is employed by Dr. R. Whitmer. She is a 1970 graduate of Washington Senior High School and of Riverside Methodist School of Nursing.

He is a 1968 graduate of McClain High School and attended Morehead State University, Morehead, Ky., and the University of Cincinnati. Mr. Bowers works for the Col-Mer Company in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wayne Bowers were hosts at a dinner at the Terrace Lounge on Friday following rehearsal.

Vinton school strike still not settled

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— School bells ring today in Youngstown for 24,000 youngsters who got an extra three weeks of vacation because of a school workers' strike.

Youngstown teachers voted Tuesday night to accept a new agreement with the school board, ending the strike that started Sept. 4, one day before school opened.

That left one teachers' strike still going in Ohio. That strike is in Vinton County in southern Ohio, where Supt. Kenneth Christopher said the schools would be kept open despite continued picketing by 86 teachers.

McArthur police were called to the high school Tuesday because of a disturbance involving the strikers' public address system.

The Vinton County Teachers Association filed a $1,275,000 damage suit in U.S. District Court in Columbus against police and the school board. The suit also asks an order restraining police and school officials from interfering with picketing.

The suit alleges that Police Chief Homer Hayburn and two other policemen assaulted three teachers with fists and clubs to keep them from operating the public address system outside the high school.

Hayburn is accused in the suit also of directing a school bus driver to run into teacher Robert Flesher in an earlier incident. Flesher was hospitalized with injuries Monday.

There was no comment immediately from Hayburn.

The teachers were fired Friday when they walked off the job in a dispute over school board dismissal policies.

Christopher said substitutes and some nonstriking teachers maintained classes as about one-third of the district's 2,200 pupils showed up for school Tuesday.

Hoffman jury listens to tapes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The prosecution was expected to resume calling witnesses today in the trial of Howard Hoffman III, accused in the March 14, 1971 killings of his parents.

The jury spent all day Tuesday listening to tapes of interviews made by Mentor Police with the 23-year-old Hoffman.

Visiting Lake County Judge John F. Clair ordered the tapes introduced as evidence after listening to them over the weekend.

Name school rep

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan has named Ruth S. Schildhouse, 45, an associate professor of social work at Ohio State University, as 12th District representative on the Ohio Board of Education.

Judge reports life threatened

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Federal authorities in Cleveland have been asked to investigate an alleged threat on the life of Coshocton County Common Pleas Court Judge Jack Young.

Young said he received a letter in the mail Tuesday bearing the name of a man he had sentenced last week to the Ohio Reformatory for armed robbery.

The Cuyahoga County sheriff's office said the 23-year-old man is in jail awaiting transfer to the reformatory in Mansfield and has been placed in isolation pending an investigation of the alleged threat.

Dairy outlook not bright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department economists are painting a contrasting picture about dairy farming.

It is bright if a farmer wants to sell out and take it easy and it's dark if he wants to stay in business.

The demand for meat is so great that farmers are tempted by high livestock prices and pusned by rising feed costs to sell out while the time is ripe.

But for the dairy farmer who has built his life and cow herd into a viable production force, soaring feed costs are putting him in an economic squeeze rarely seen in American agriculture in times of national affluence.

"For the rest of this year, milk production will likely continue well below year-earlier levels. Feed prices will stay well above a year earlier, although below summer highs," the Economic Research Service said Tuesday.

Describing the factors in a "dairy situation report," economists noted that total milk production will be down about three per cent from 1972 output.

"Despite record high milk prices, milk-feed relationships will remain relatively unfavorable to heavy grain and concentrate feeding," the report said. "Culling of dairy herds this fall and winter could stay heavy."

Declines in milk production generally have been widespread. In August, only six states reported increases from a year earlier. Production in Wisconsin fell substantially, with milk output per cow down seven per cent. California recorded a decline in July and August for the first time since 1969.

Banker Rotary speaker

"Create family power and conserve it," Jack Schenck, associated with the trust department of the Huntington National Bank, Columbus, told members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at their noon luncheon in the Country Club.

Schenck presented an interesting approach to what a trust fund can do for a business or professional man as he matched the energy crisis and power shortage with creating family power through trusts.

"Family life is really big business," Schenck pointed out as he stated that if an average income is $12,000 per year it would amount to about a half million dollars in over 40 years.

He said there should be no power shortage in a family as an individual can generate power by how hard he works and conserves this power by the way in which he arranges the later years of his life.

Schenck said it is through trusts that a businessman can provide and maintain family power after his death. He said bank trust departments manage funds, provide financial advice and take advantage of laws to conserve money in a person's estate and are particularly particularly involved in providing tax savings.

Schenck said trust funds can be as broad and as flexible as an individual desires, but he pointed out several wasteful examples to the Rotarians.

Paul Crosby, vice president of the club, conducted the business meeting and the program was arranged by Richard Whiteside.

Student guests were David Butterfield, of WSHS, and Gary Cobb, of MTHS. Other guests were Ron Warner with Bruce Ream, and Steve Yambor with Ron Ratliff.

Visiting Rotarians were Wade Pierce, of Cincinnati, Darrell French, of Wilmington, Jerry Ardrey, of London, and Larry Hughes, of Mount Sterling.

Coal gasification plant site eyed in Southeast Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Southeastern Ohio is being considered as a site for a coal gasification plant, state Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, said Tuesday.

Applegate said George Fumich, acting director of the coal research office in the Department of the Interior, had told him coal fields made the region a natural site for such a facility.

Fumich said the plant would be a joint project of the American Gas Association and the Natural Coal Gasification Program.

Applegate said he has been in touch with U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, who pledged support for locating the plant in southeastern Ohio.

Money said paid improperly by school

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Whitehall City School District has been ordered to recover $58,923 allegedly paid improperly to teachers and other staff members.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said Tuesday a check of the district's books for the period Oct. 1, 1969-July 10, 1972, uncovered 137 separate instances in which money was improperly paid for overtime, expenses and salaries.

The auditor's report referred to "lax operating procedures by the district board of education as well as an apparent lack of good accounting procedures by the former clerk-treasurer of the board, Harriet Hill Staats."

Mrs. Cunningham heads Cancer Unit

Mrs. Charles L. Cunningham, of Bloomingburg, was elected president of the Fayette County Unit of The American Cancer Society at the unit's annual meeting Tuesday evening. She succeeds Robert E. Minshall who has served for the past two years.

Meeting in the home of the executive director, Mrs. William L. Heinz, the unit also elected Bart E. Mahoney as vice president; Mrs. Robert Antoine, secretary, and Elmer N. Reed, treasurer.

Mrs. Cunningham has served as unit vice president the past two years and has been active in various capacities in the organization for 12 years. She is a member of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church and many community organizations such as the Ohio Child Conservation League, serving on the state level as district president.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham have three sons, two daughters, and two grandchildren.

THE NEW president announced the appointment of some of the major committee chairmen including: Paul V. Johnson, general Crusade chairman for 1974; Dr. Joseph Herbert, professional education; R.E. Minshall and Mrs. J.T. Taylor, public information; Mrs. Wayne Hidy, service chairman, and Mrs. D.E. Mossbarger, public education.

James Vess, 1973 Crusade chairman, reported that total contributions amounted to $11,989.14. He noted that, although this is under the 1972 figure by about $250, "it reflects generous giving by the people of Fayette County and many hours of hard work by about 500 volunteers."

Following the meeting a new film, just purchased by the Local unit, "For a Wonderful Life", was shown to the 22 persons at the meeting. The film covers the importance of early detection of uterine cancer in women and is available, along with the 25 to 30 other films, in the unit's library for showing to organizations and groups within the county.

Vandalism incidents reported to sheriff

Gail Garringer, Jamestown, reported to the Sheriff's Department that someone had damaged a farm spreader by breaking pipes and cutting hoses Tuesday afternoon.

Harry Chakeres, CCC Highway-E, reported that someone entered the concession stand and broke glass out of a cigarette machine Sunday or Monday night. Nothing was taken.

Ohio man arrested for bank robbery

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — An Ohio man has been ordered held without bail pending a hearing on charges of robbing the South Providence Credit Union of $4,140 last May.

Willie Taylor, 36, of Cleveland, Ohio, was arraigned Tuesday in Sixth District Court after being turned over to Providence police by the FBI, which arrested him for unlawful flight.

Grand jury sets Ohio bribe case report Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury is expected to report Thursday on its investigation into alleged payoffs involving the Ohio Department of Commerce.

State employes, including Commerce Director Dennis Shaul, probably will be cleared by the panel, sources close to the investigation said.

But they did not comment on the possibility of an indictment against Anthony LaFatch, an Akron developer.

The FBI has said LaFatch solicited a $50,000 bribe from a Columbus firm with the intention of securing commerce department approval of a $10 million stock issue.

Union trustees meet routinely

The meeting of the Union Township Board of Trustees Tuesday night was devoted almost exclusively to routine matters, a general informal discussion of plans for the coming winter months and the approval of bills amounting to approximately $4,500.

Among the bills was the monthly (October) payment of $2,000 to Washington C.H. for fire protection. The three-year fire protection contract expires Dec. 31 and negotiations for another are already in the preliminary stages. The present contract calls for $23,300 a year. The board has had a policy of making the first month payment $1,300 and the subsequent 11 month's payments an even $2,000.

In the general discussion, it was brought out that the township roads are in basically good condition, but that the patching, weed and brush-cutting and roadside-mowing are continuing on a routine basis.

The two cemeteries, Sugar Creek Baptist, U.S. 35-N, and Sugar Creek Methodist, Palmer Rd., are also in good condition through continuing maintenance.

Panthers seek third victory with road trip Friday night

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Writer

Miami Trace head football coach Fred Zechman takes his Panthers into battle again Friday night in what could be said to be the most important contest thus far in this young season.

Zechman's Panthers travel southeast Friday night for an 8 p.m. clash with the Chillicothe Cavaliers at Herrnstein Field.

ALL OTHER South Central Ohio League football teams will be launching their regular league schedules while the Panthers are battling Chillicothe, 1-2 on the season. Miami Trace will open its league season with Hillsboro Oct. 5.

Miami Trace, looking for its third win in four starts, will be up against an offensive attack at Chillicothe that is geared for crunching inside and explosive outside breakaway threats.

Chillicothe coach Kern McKee, in his second year, has had a rocky time getting the Cavaliers on the winning path. In the first contest this season, Chillicothe lost to powerful Jackson 28-12. The second game for the Cavaliers was another nightmare as the Washington C.H. Blue Lions, currently ranked second in the state, demolished Chillicothe 27-0. Then in the third game, Chillicothe snapped an eight-game losing streak over a two-season span by defeating winless Greenfield 14-0.

McKee, who started out the season using a two-platoon system, has changed his strategy by using seven players both ways, with the remaining four players being platooned.

Speedster Stacey Hitchens and powerful James Gause will provide the bulk of the Chillicothe attack. Hitchens, a 5-foot-9, 165-pound senior tailback, who is Chillicothe's outside threat, has scored five touchdowns of over 50-yards in the last 12 games. Hitchens also tossed a 38-yard touchdown pass in last Friday's game with Greenfield on an option play.

But, while planning a defense to contain Hitchens, Gause, who has recently been moved from fullback to a slot back position, provides the grueling inside attack. Gause, a 6-foot-2, 195-pound senior, was selected on the second team All Central Ohio League last season as a tight end.

Mike Ratzlaff, the veteran signal-caller for the Cavaliers, is back in good form after an early season injury. Junior Wayne Hitchens has been moved from the guard slot to fullback with junior Mike Walls filling the guard position.

With an offensive wall averaging 193 pounds across the front, the Cavaliers, have plenty of protection for their quarterback and have the potential of opening wide gaps in the line for the runners.

Defensively, where the Cavaliers employ an Oklahoma 5-2 formation, the line is packed with three 200-pounders in tackles Joe Deffenbaugh and Mark Shoemaker and end Jack Mahaffey. Jim Savage holds down the left end with Jim Moody at the middle guard position. Kirk Hitchens and Gause are the linebackers and Scott Brown is the monster with Randy Quesinberry, Jeff Hall and Mulane forming the defensive secondary.

DESPITE THE awesome defensive line, Jackson and Washington C.H. both proved the Cavalier defense very porous. Jackson totalled 352 yards on the ground and Washington C.H. running for 324 yards.

Coach Zechman, not planning any changes prior to Tuesday's practice session, said that the Cavaliers are about a 60 per cent different team since the start of the season and that he expects a very strong effort from them.

With no injuries hampering Miami Trace, fans can expect another hard-fought contest, hoping that the Panthers come out victors again.

MT game route

Fans attending the Miami Trace-Chillicothe game Friday night are advised of the following route.

Take U.S. 35 to the High Street exit. Follow High Street, passing through three stop lights, and turn right onto Arch Street. Herrnstein Field is located on Arch Street near Smith Junior High School.

Week's layoff, TCU worry Woody Hayes

CHICAGO (AP) — Nationally third-ranked Ohio State rested last Saturday, but Coach Woody Hayes doubts that will benefit his once-tested Buckeyes against Texas Christian at Ohio Stadium in Columbus this Saturday.

"We're in real good physical shape, but I don't think the layoff since our opener with Minnesota two weeks ago is any big advantage," Hayes told the Chicago Football Writers meeting Tuesday by telephone.

"The theory is that a team usually makes its biggest improvement between its first and second games of the season. That means we have to keep an edge for two weeks."

HAYES, whose well-manned Buckeyes rolled over Minnesota in a Big Ten opener, 56-7, on September 15, has been known to regard non-conference opposition lightly.

"I'll tell you we're paying attention to a non-conference team this Saturday," siad Hayes. "Texas Christian may be the best team in the Southwest Conference." TCU opened with a 49-13 rout of Texas-Arlington last week.

Ohio State passed only five times in subduing Minnesota behind a ground attack, led by quarterback Cornelius Greene, which rolled up 383 rushing yards.

"The fans are saying we should pass more and maybe we will, but our best passer, Greg Hare, still is injured and Greene will start against TCU," said Hayes.

Mike Ernst backs Ken Anderson

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Mike Ernst, acquired from Denver, will be backup quarterback to Kenny Anderson Sunday when the Cincinnati Bengals meet the Chargers at San Diego.

But the long, long-haired product of Cal Fullarton, is not expected to see action unless Anderson is hurt.

"It will take a full year for him to learn our system," said assistant coach Bill Walsh.

But Walsh said Ernst, in his second year, could be used if necessary. "We can learn enough so that if he had to go in we'd pattern the offense around what he can do."

Ernst is another in a series of quarterbacks Cincinnati has picked up in an effort to replace Virgil Carter, who is out for the season with a broken collarbone.

Greg Cook, attempting a comeback following a 1969 injury, will be moved back to the taxi squad, officials said. Jim Van Galder was released last week after a try.

"I'm just thankful for a chance to play football," said Ernst, who was fourth man with the Broncos.

The Bengals are hoping to be in better physical shape this week.

Vinton County plans game despite strike

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — Football Coach Joe Duncan is one of the 86 Vinton County High School teachers dismissed for striking but the school intends to play its game Friday night.

"If we have enough boys to play Friday, we'll play the game," said Kenneth Chrisopher, superintendent for the school district.

Vinton County is scheduled to play at home against Glouster this week.

Delaware continues to lead grid poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Delaware, following a 60-18 rout of Gettysburg, continued to lead The Associated Press College Division football poll today.

The Blue Hens, after running their record to 3-0 last Saturday, piled up 30 of 46 first-place votes and 843 points from a national panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Delaware has won the college division national title the last two years.

Grambling, with five firstplace votes and 732 points, remained in second place. The Tigers beat Morgan State 31-14 last Saturday for their third straight victory.

South Dakota, a 9-7 winner over North Dakota State, moved up one spot to third, while Tennessee State, a 23-20 victor over Texas Southern, fell one place to fourth. South Dakota picked up four first-place ballots.

Eastern Michigan, with one first-place vote, advanced from sixth to fifth on the strength of a 25-14 triumph over Indiana State. Hawaii, tied for 11th last week, was up sixth after beating Fresno State 13-10. The Rainbows earned two firstplace ballots.

Ashland, a 37-0 winner over Edinboro State, was seventh and Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo was eighth after topping Idaho State 20-10. Louisiana Tech was ninth following a 23-0 victory over Southwestern Louisiana, and Boise State, a 27-17 winner over Montana State, was 10th.

Rounding out the top 15 were Carson-Newman, McNeese State, which collected one firstplace vote, Northwestern Louisiana and, tied for 15th, North Dakota and North Dakota State.

Jacksonville State picked up two first-place votes and Northern Colorado got one, but neither team had enough points to get into the top 15.

Billingham wins 19th

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Reds hurler Jack Billingham will have another crack at his "dream" Sunday, a chance to win 20 games for the first time.

But he scoffed at Manager Sparky Anderson's suggestion he might be a candidate for the National League's Cy Young Award for the best pitcher.

"I'd say," said Anderson, after Billingham collected his 19th victory Tuesday night over San Diego, 3-2, "if Tom Seaver, of the New York Mets, don't win it, they got to go to Jack. Look at the statistics, all of them. He rates."

"I don't consider myself the best," said Billingham, until this year a so-so pitcher in four years with Los Angeles, Montreal and Houston.

"You have to go to Seaver for that, but I'm getting to be one of the best."

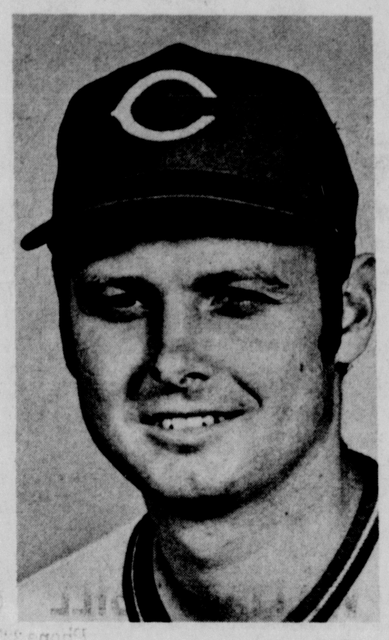
Billingham became the first Reds pitcher to finish 16 complete games since 1962 when Joey Jay and Bob Purkey finished 16 and 18.

Nate Colbert scored both Padre runs. The first on a triple by Ivan Murrell in the second inning. In the seventh inning he hit his 21st home run of the year, with none on base.

Colbert has now homered in four of the Padres last five games.

Ken Griffey singled off Bill Greif, 10-17, to open the sixth for Cincinnati and scored on Dan Driessen's double.

Two outs later Cesar Geronimo and Denis Menke hit back-to-back doubles to score the last two.



JACK BILLINGHAM

Billingham now leads all National League pitchers in total innings pitched with 275.

"Twenty wins is a dream," he said, noting that he had 13 victories at the All Star break. "I thought then I'd win 20 easy, but they're tough to get.

"I try not to think about it too much, but it's a goal of every pitcher.

"You start your career talking about goals—20 wins, All Star games, World Series...

"You think about the guys who make these things... 20 wins, it would be fantastic."

The game tonight is the season final between the two clubs with Ross Grimsley, 13-9, going to the hill for Cincinnati and Randy Jones, 5-6, for San Diego.

The New York Mets hold the upper hand in the National League East and are prepared to deal their aces in the remaining games of high stakes.

"The Met pitching is coming on strong now," says Manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies, assessing the wild pennant shuffle. "And pitching is very important in the stretch."

The front-running Mets strengthened their lead to 1½ games over Pittsburgh with a 2-1 decision over the Montreal Expos Tuesday night while the Phillies defeated the Pirates by the same score.

Tonight, the Mets will pitch right-handed star Tom Seaver against Montreal in the windup of their series at Shea Stadium.

"The Pittsburgh club definitely has the bats and good defense but I know (Manager) Danny Murtaugh is pressing for pitching," said Ozark. "They may be a little weak as far as putting a starting pitcher out there."

"We're going to have to go with what we have," said Murtaugh, who'll have to go with rookie Jim McKees against the Phillies tonight.

Still, Pirate center fielder Al Oliver wasn't discouraged over the situation.

"We've never been down on ourselves, even when things are were really going bad," said Oliver. "No one likes to lose, but the next day you have to snap back, and that's what we will do."

Sooners are picked over top-rated USC

NEW YORK (AP) — When you listen to the Southern California and Oklahoma people talk about each other, it's hard to tell who's No. 1.

"Whew!" gasps Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, whose eighth-ranked Sooners tangle with the top-rated Trojans in Los Angeles Saturday night. "What's there to say?

"They have a super, super team. For us to even have a chance to win we'll have to play a perfect game. We can't put the ball on the ground (fumble), we can't throw the interception, we can't make any errors at all and hope to win the game ..."

Whew!

Now lend an ear to Craig Fertig, a member of John McKay's staff at Southern Cal:

"Truthfully, this is one of the best football teams I've ever seen on film. They have everything, as far as offense goes, and they think they have the best defensive team they've ever had at Oklahoma, and that's saying quite a bit.

"We must maintain the football and not make mistakes as far as jumping offsides, clipping and holding penalties. We've got to play a perfect game on offense and not give them the ball. If you give them the ball consistently they're going to move it on you."

Whew!

There you have it. And now you're gonna get it ... the Upset Special of the Week ... Oklahoma 24, Southern Cal 21.

Whew! Choices in other top games:

Tennessee 21, Auburn 10—Bill Battle has lost five games in just over three years at Tennessee, and three of them were to Auburn. This time, Tennessee wins the Battle of Knoxville.

Texas 24, Texas Tech 14— After losing to Miami, the Longhorns will have their eyes rolled up like bee-bees at home in Austin.

Notre Dame 35, Purdue 7— Ara Parseghian and Alex Agase played with the Cleveland Browns a long time ago and coached together at Northwestern. In fact, Agase succeeded Parseghian there and right now he's probably wishing he'd stayed there, although ND crushed NU 44-0 last Saturday.

Houston 35, Memphis State 14— Losing to Memphis State last weekend was the kiss of death for Mississippi's Billy Kinard. Not to worry, Bill Yeoman.

Miami, Fla. 28, Florida State 13—Are the Hurricanes for real after upsetting Texas? Tune in next week when they play Oklahoma.

Georgia 28, North Carolina State 27—Georgia catches the Wolfpack coming off Nebraska ... but the Bulldogs may be looking ahead to Alabama.

MT's Players of Week

A junior and a senior have been selected Miami Trace's Players of the Week for their outstanding performances in the Panthers' 29-0 victory over Columbus Bishop Ready last Friday night.

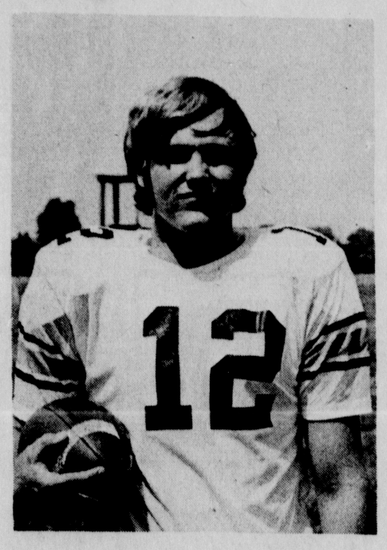
Quarterback Tom Riley and tri-captain Doug Ford were singled out by the Miami Trace coaching staff for honors in the Record-Herald's third weekly poll.

RILEY, a 165-pound junior, was named the top offensive player of the week. The stocky Panther signal-caller connected on nine of 12 passes for 109 yards. Passing at a 75 per cent clip, Riley, connected for three touchdownp passes of 13 yards, five yards and four yards.

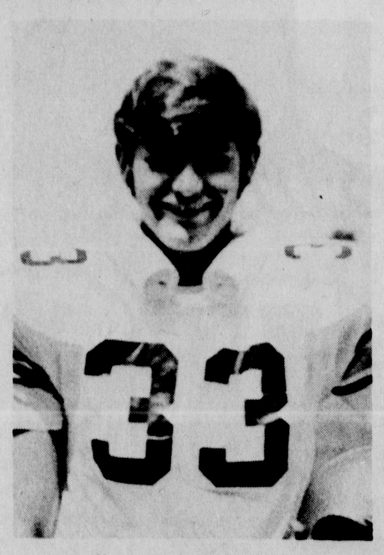
Riley was also responsible for nine more points on the scoreboard as he ran for one touchdown and an extra point and kicked one extra point.

Jay Mossbarger, a 180-pound junior, was also instrumental in the Panther victory. Mossbarger was on the receiving end of all three of the touchdown passes and totalled six catches for 81 yards.

Ford, a 185-pound fullback and defensive back, was named top defensive player of the week. Ford, who had previously been named offensive player of the week the first two weeks, had a fine defensive game against Bishop Ready.



TOM RILEY



DOUG FORD

THE TALENTED senior led the team in defensive points, number of tackles and received the team's "big lick" award both for offensive and defensive prowess.

Ford was also excellent on pass coverage, which caused Bishop Ready to have three interceptions and only 10 completions in 31 attempts.

The Panthers, now 2-1 on the season, travel to Chillicothe Friday night for an 8 p.m. contest with the Cavaliers at Herrnstein Field. The game will be the last non-league tuneup for Miami Trace before the Panthers open their South Central Ohio League schedule against Hillsboro next week.

Opening lead - two of diamonds.

There is a vast difference between playing a hand when you see all 52 cards, and playing a hand when you see only 26.

But bridge being the kind of game it is, you are expected to play the great majority of hands just as effectively, seeing 26 cards, as seeing all 52.

Suppose you're South in this deal and West leads a diamond. Obviously the deuce is a singleton and the entire problem is to escape the loss of two diamond tricks.

The outlook is certainly not promising. The only real hope is to find the hearts divided 3-3 and so get rid of your diamonds on the hearts, but even that possibility can't mature unless you can also overcome the problem of finding an entry to dummy after you've established the hearts.

A little ingenuity, however, will do the trick, You win the diamond lead with the ace, play a heart to the king and lead a low trump. When West produces the queen, you let him win it!

This extraordinary play puts West out of commission. If he returns a heart, you ruff it and make the rest of the tricks by later discarding three diamonds on dummy's hearts.

If he returns a club instead of a heart, the outcome is the same. You ruff in dummy and establish the hearts to make the contract.

In either case, the ace of spades provides the crucial entry to dummy to cash the hearts after they are established. But if you don't allow West to win a trick with his queen of spades, the hand collapses of its own weight and you lose the slam.

Heart Murmur Worries Her

I am engaged to a girl who is almost obsessed with the idea that she will not be able to have children because she has a heart murmur.

I must get this matter cleared up because I am afraid it may even keep her from marrying me.

Mr. B.R., Calif.

Dear Mr. R.:

You are astute in trying to settle this important problem now rather than wait until after marriage.

The fact that this fear persists in your fiancee indicates that her emotional distress should have been handled many years ago.

Now, with your support and level-headed judgment, you can bring her the emotional comfort that has been denied her for so long.

The fact that she is otherwise in good health indicates that the heart murmur is probably incidental and insignificant.

Many people with "functional" heart murmurs go through their entire lives without the slightest problem.

A functional murmur is one that has no basic underlying disease of the heart.

A thorough checkup of the heart, which apparently is long overdue, will give her the assurance she needs. This, combined with your understanding, will set the pathway for a happy courtship, a happy marriage, and pregnancy free from anxiety.

It will give her a greater sense of security to know that women with real heart ailments safely go through their pregnancy and childbirth without any extra strain on their hearts.

When women, with or without heart murmurs or a heart condition, are carefully observed throughout their pregnancy, the possibility of complications is minimized.

WSHS bandsmen preparing for two appearances

The Washington Senior High School marching band has been busy for the last 10 days preparing for two major performances — the first at the football game here Friday night between the Blue Lions and Golden Eagles from Madison Plains, and the second at the Ohio Wine Festival Saturday at Morrow.

For the halftime show at the football game here Sept. 14, the band surprised a capacity crowd with its "Script Ohio", a formation made famous by the Ohio State University band.

Friday night's halftime show will bring its formation closer home with "Lions" in script. Charles Shaffer, band director, admitted the formation was not exactly simple to work out with only a week of practice, and added that he was very pleased with the performance. He commented that, unfortunately, the formation appears less well defined from the low-level perspective of the Gardner Park stadium then from the altitude of the big stadiums.

THE BAND will leave here at 10 a.m. Saturday for Morrow where it will participate in the Wine Festival in competition with several other high school bands. This will be the WSHS band's third appearance at the festival. It took top honors in the competition at both previous performances.

The drill team, composed of 25 girls under the direction of Miss Nancy Karaffa, will accompany the 72-piece band, including the majorettes, to Morrow. The material for the drill team's costumes arrived only this week, and Shaffer and Miss Karaffa have their fingers crossed and hoping that they will be ready by Saturday.

The WSHS Band Boosters, at a meeting Tuesday night, voted to buy two used trombones for use by both the junior and senior high school bands. These are to be used by students who feel they cannot afford to buy one themselves and for those who might want to shift from another instrument.

The Boosters also approved chevrons for the rank commanders and band officers. The chevrons, white on the blue uniforms, will reach almost from the shoulder to the elbow, similar to those used by West Point cadets.

FORMAL INTRODUCTION — City Manager Dan Wolford accepts a letter from Sheila Gordon, Miami Trace High School's AFS student from South Africa. The letter was from Councillor R. Williams, mayor of Durban, Province of Natal, South Africa, formally introducing Sheila to the community through the city manager. Looking on are Robert Grim, left, American government teacher at Miami Trace, and Principal Curtis E. Fleisher.

Walking Horse sale Saturday

Between 35 and 40 Tennessee Walking Horses will be offered to the highest bidder at the Ohio Valley and Buckeye Walking Horse sale Saturday afternoon at the state Fairground, Columbus, Herman Ingram, CCC Highway-W, sale manager, said.

They will be consigned by owners in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana dnd Michigan and will include pleasure and show horeses, show prospects, broodmares and stallions.

Although there are approximately 65 youngsters enrolled in the five 4-H horse and pony clubs in Fayette County, most of them what are termed "usin' type" riding horses, Ingram said. Not many have registered (or eligible to register) horses.

Ingram, who has a mantle full of trophies won by his horses, has taken top honors in many shows. A professional Walking Horse trainer and dealer, he is now getting into the breeding phase of the business at his farm.

Another Fayette Countian, Emerson Marting, a registered Hereford cattle breeder and feeder at his farm, CCC Highway-W, and a widely known auctioneer and after-dinner speaker, will be the auctioneer at the Saturday Walking Horse sale.

Agnew asks House probe

SPIRO T. AGNEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew has asked the House of Representatives to hear his case against allegations of political corruption, contending the Constitution forbids criminal actions against him while he is vice president.

What action the House might take on Agnew's request remained unclear.

Leaders said such an investigation might be made by a House committee, but would not rule out the possibility of a hearing through impeachment procedures or even a rejection of Agnew's request.

Agnew asked for the House investigation Tuesday after secret negotiations between Agnew's lawyers and Justice Department officials broke down and Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson announced he had authorized a federal grand jury in Baltimore to begin hearing the Agnew case Thursday.

President Nixon, who met with Agnew Tuesday morning, said the vice president had again personally assured him of his innocence of any wrongdoing.

Nixon issued his strongest statement of support for Agnew since the investigation of the vice president was announced nearly two months ago.

Agnew requested the Capitol Hill hearing in a letter that he hand-delivered to House Speaker Carl Albert. Agnew then met for more than an hour with Albert and other House leaders.

"After the most careful study, my counsel have advised me that the Constitution bars a criminal proceeding of any kind ... against a president or a vice president while he holds office," the Agnew letter said.

"Accordingly, I cannot acquiesce in any criminal proceeding being lodged against me in Maryland or elsewhere, and I cannot look to any such proceeding for vindication. In these circumstances, I believe, it is the right and duty of the vice president to turn to the House.

"I am confident that ... I shall be vindicated by the House," Agnew wrote.

A spokesman for Richardson said that, despite Agnew's legal posture, the decision to go to the grand jury would stand.

Agnew's request caught House members by surprise, and they were unsure what to do about it. Albert said there was no decision during the meeting with the vice president.

Agnew emerged from the session smiling but declined to comment on the matter.

Following the session with Agnew, Albert held an informal leadership meeting in his office, then said he didn't have any idea when a decision would be reached on Agnew's request.

Asked whether an impeachment proceeding had been ruled out, Albert responded: "Nothing has been ruled out."

House Democratic Whip John J. McFall of California said alternatives for action included placing Agnew's request for a hearing before the House, referring it to the Judiciary Committee or a special committee, or ignoring it. He, too, would not rule out impeachment.

Reputation maligned, Buchanan charges

Watergate witness barks back at probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan accused the Senate Watergate committee staff today of maligning his reputation and denied he had any part in political sabotage against Democrats.

In an opening statement before a televised session of the committee, Buchanan said there was "an apparent campaign, orchestrated from within the committee staff, to malign my reputation in the public press prior to my appearance."

He said what he called a "campaign of vilification" is a direct violation of committee rules and asked:

"How can this select committee set itself up as the ultimate arbiter of American political ethics if it cannot even control character assassins within its own ranks?"

Buchanan said he neither recommended, authorized nor was aware of "any ongoing campaign of political sabotage against Sen. (Edmund S.) Muskie or any other Democratic candidate."

Buchanan addressed the committee as the panel opened its probe into political dirty tricks. He is said to have been the author of White House memos that reportedly set the tone and basic strategy for President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

The presidential speechwriter said the contention that Nixon's 1972 presidential campaign committee infiltrated opponents' campaign in an attempt to select its weakest opponent was altogether untrue.

"Republicans were not responsible for the downfall of Muskie; Republicans were not responsible for the nomination of Sen. (George) McGovern," Buchanan said. "The McGovern people won their own nomination — and they lost their own election."

Muskie was the early frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, but the Maine Democrat's campaign faltered and McGovern won the nomination.

Buchanan conceded that he recommended in the spring and summer of 1971 that Republicans concentrate their political resources on Muskie because Muskie was the frontrunner at that time.

"No requirement exists in ethics or logic or law that we provide equal time

3 persons killed as twisters hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three persons were killed and scores believed injured as 20 or more tornadoes wracked Kansas and the central plains Tuesday night, the Kansas Highway Patrol reported today.

Heavy rains falling on waterlogged ground triggered new flash-flooding in Kansas and Nebraska.

North-central Kansas was hardest hit with numerous tornadoes. A twister cut a four-block-wide swath through Clay Center, a town of 5,000 northeast of Salina.

As many as 100 were injured, and communications with the town were knocked out, a Red Cross spokesman said.

The spokesman said there was no electricity within a 12-to 15-mile radius of Clay Center. Fifty buildings in the town had major damage and 100 others sustained some damage.

At Greenleaf, a community of 480 some 30 miles northeast of Clay Center, residents were evacuated after an anhydrous ammonia tank ruptured during a tornado.

A mother and two of her children were buried in the wreckage of their home in Greenleaf, and authorities first said all three were presumed dead. But several hours later, the mother was found alive in the wreck-

40 per cent U.S. troop cut voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today voted to reduce the number of U.S. land-based troops overseas by 40 per cent.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, sponsor of the amendment, said, "The time has come to set aside the rhetoric of the cold war used to justify a status quo of military involvement around the world."

But Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops from Europe would undermine negotiations with Warsaw Pact nations for bilateral pullbacks. "This would imperil the future of the United States," Tower said.

Mansfield had originally proposed a 50 per cent cut in the number of foreign-based U.S. troops, but changed the proposal at the last minute to a 40 per cent cut.

Mansfield said that when servicemen's dependents, U.S. civilians and foreign nationals hired to assist Americans are included, the United States has a force of 1.1 million persons in foreign countries.

He said this costs U.S. taxpayers $30 billion a year, with $17 billion of that amount attributed to maintenance of troops in Europe.

He said a reduction in the 500,000-man force is essential to lower the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit, fill domestic needs and end the policy of military confrontation with the Soviets.

The Mansfield amendment would require that at least 50,000 troops based in foreign countries be pulled out by next June 30, and that another 150,000 be withdrawn over the following two years.

The Senate also was to begin public debate today on a proposal to slow development of the $13 billion Trident submarine program. The Trident amendment was discussed for more than two hours in closed session Tuesday.

A vote on the Trident amendment was scheduled for Thursday.

Kissinger turns eyes toward Asia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gave some attention to Southeast Asia today for the first time in his visit to the U.N. General Assembly. But Europe continued to be his primary concern.

Other than scattered references, Kissinger ignored the Indochina area in his first two days in New York. Today he scheduled meetings with the foreign ministers of Thailand and South Vietnam.

However, the major part of his schedule before returning to Washington tonight was strong evidence of his near-preoccupation with what he has called a "new Atlantic Alliance."

He was to meet with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert. He also planned to attend the General Assembly address by Brandt.

Very little substantive progress has been made toward developing a new concept of U.S.European relationship during Kissinger's meetings this week.

U.S. officials said discussions Tuesday with the foreign ministers K.B. Andersen of Denmark and Walter Scheel of West Germany produced only one significant development — an agreement for a meeting in the next few days between Walter Stoessel, the assistant secretary of state for Europe, and representatives of the European Common Market.

They will try to draft a declaration of principles, but American sources said at least one more meeting would be needed, probably in Europe next month.

As if to underline the lack of movement so far, the American officials said any decision on a European trip by President Nixon remains for the future.

Kissinger had an inconclusive meeting Tuesday with Arab leaders in which he renewed U.S. offers to assist in opening negotiations for an Arab-Israeli settlement.

But he told them not to expect the United States "to bring forth miracles," and he made no proposals for ending the Arab-Israeli confrontation. The meeting was boycotted by five Arab delegations.

FDA orders mushroom toxin hunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has ordered a nationwide search for canned mushrooms it says may be contaminated with lethal botulin toxin.

The FDA made the announcement Tuesday after disclosing that federal inspections of 42 mushroom processing plants disclosed that half had deficient procedures or equipment.

Botulism poisoning from the toxin can be fatal if not diagnosed and treated promptly.

The FDA said it is searching more than 5,000 warehouses for the suspect cans. FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt said 350 food inspectors plus state and local officials were joining in the search.

"We are convinced that the effort is necessary to end the sporadic problems we have encountered with canned mushrooms this year," said Schmidt.

Specific canned mushroom brands have been recalled five times this year.

The FDA advised consumers who encounter swollen or leaking cans not to open or eat them but to contact their nearest FDA office.

Boyle in coma; suicide attempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. A. "Tony" Boyle, former head of the United Mine Workers Union, remains near death after an apparent suicide attempt on the eve of a court appearance on a murder conspiracy charge.

The 71-year-old ousted union boss had been scheduled for a court appearance Tuesday, but he was rushed to George Washington University Hospital Monday night with what doctors at first thought was a stroke.

His condition was listed as unchanged early today by hospital spokesmen. He was in a coma, and earlier in the day hospital authorities said Boyle was "in very, very critical condition" and "all we can do is support the life systems and wait."

Boyle's hearing was a removal procedure to have him taken to Pennsylvania to face state murder charges in connection with the 1969 slayings of insurgent union leader Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter.

The hearing was postponed until Oct. 24.

Dr. Milton Gusack, Boyle's personal doctor, said blood samples and other tests indicated presence of large amounts of sodium amytal, a strong barbiturate. He said chances for survival were poor.

"It was an apparent effort at self-destruction," said Gusack.

"I don't think this was premeditated, it was on the spur of the moment," he said.

Gusack said Boyle also suffered from heart disease, emphysema and hypertension. He said Boyle visited him Saturday, and the condition of his heart was such that the hearing could have been delayed on medical grounds.

But, Gusack said, Boyle wanted to pursue his case and not hide behind medical problems.

The former UMW boss was arrested Sept. 6, after a 3½-year investigation by state and federal officials.

Seven persons, including several UMW officials, have been convicted for their roles in the Yablonski murders, which Boyle once said he would "swear to Almighty God" that he had no knowledge of.

Memory returns after 37 years

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Thirty-seven years ago, John R. Crosswhite left his home in Cape Girardeau, Mo., on a business trip to St. Louis. He never returned and although his wrecked car was found, Crosswhite's body was never discovered.

Five years later, a man named John R. Cross, who described himself as a retired contractor, settled in Joplin, Mo., married in 1942 and raised a family.

Cross recently suffered a stroke. As he recovered, he began remembering bits of his past and it turned out that Cross and Crosswhite — who was declared legally dead in 1940, leaving a widow and five children — are the same man.

Martha Jane Barker, a nurse at St. John's Medical Center here and one of two children of the Joplin marriage, said the tale came to light as her father recuperated.

"He started talking and babbling to me and saying his name was really John R. Crosswhite and that 'we need to get something straightened'," Mrs. Barker said.

"We thought he was just delirious and ignored it, but he kept insisting, and a couple of days later he began crying and said he wanted to see his brother," she continued.

"We told him there was no brother, but he insisted there was," she said, noting her father had told her he was an only child. She said he also had told her he was a widower before marrying her mother.

"He finally told us to call the Crosswhites in the Enid (Okla.) area, so I finally located Frank Crosswhite in Hennessey, one of his brothers.

"I knew they were brothers when I saw Frank because they look so much alike," she said.

Frank said he had visited his brother, now 84, twice in the Joplin nursing home where he is now staying. "He didn't remember me at first, but since I've been going to see him, he knows me now."

Mrs. Barker said her father's doctor, Dr. E.H. Hamilton, told her Crosswhite "had a type of of amnesia where he remembered the most important things in his young life, then had a big blank."

House OKs compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a compromise $9.9 billion appropriation bill to finance farm, food stamp, school milk, consumer and environment protection programs.

The measure, sent to the Senate for final action on a 348-24 vote Tuesday, is $408 million above the Nixon administration's request.

Over-all, the bill, covering the year that began July 1, is $2.8 billion under the previous year's level.

Skylab crew home; feeling fine

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doctors were elated with the physical conditions of the Skylab 2 astronauts today after their record 59½-dayspacemission.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma planned to sleep late aboard the recovery carrier headed for San Diego, Calif.

The astronauts blazed back to earth Tuesday in a perfect ending to their journey. They splashed down six miles from the recovery ship which was waiting about 230 miles southwest of San Diego.

The three were quickly hoisted aboard the New Orleans with their precious cargo of films, tapes and other data which could provide vital information about the sun, the earth and man himself.

The astronauts walked a bit wobbly when they stepped on the carrier deck after their long exposure to space weightlessness.

Smiling and happy, they waved and saluted the hundreds of sailors who lined up for a look at the nation's newest space heroes.

They were quickly taken to a medical facility for extensive examinations.

A medical report said none of the spacemen suffered from motion sickness and all three had normal blood pressures and heart rates.

The report said there was some evidence of "vestibular disturbance," such as dizziness. But this was expected as part of the process of readapting to earth's gravity.

"All three crewmen are in excellent spirits and they feel well," said the report. "Physicians are very elated with the crew condition at this point."

Dr. Royce Hawkins, the chief astronaut physician, credited their good health to a rigid exercise program while they were in space.

The astronauts will be under careful medical scrutiny for another 18 days. They will maintain a strict diet and collect all urine and fecal samples for examination as they have done since 21 days before they were launched July 28.

More tests were planned aboard the New Orleans today and Thursday. On Thursday afternoon, the astronauts will fly back to their homes near Houston's Johnson Space Center.

Within an hour after the astronauts were aboard the carrier Tuesday, they talked with their families and received a message of congratulations from President Nixon.

Skylab 2's 24-million mile journey had a safe and accurate ending, the trademark of U.S. space flights in recent years.

The Apollo ship ferrying the astronauts from the Skylab station dropped under orange and white parachutes into whitecapped waves, within range of television cameras.

"Man, that was a spectacular entry!" said Lousma through a special communications hookup after the spacecraft was on the water. "I like the bang when the main chute comes out. Golly, I'd like to do it again!"

See big Skylab payoff

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The research conducted by the Skylab 2 astronauts may provide a tremendous payoff in expanding man's knowledge of himself, his earth and his sun.

No one can predict the benefits. But the thousands of photos and miles of tape could lead to an endless source of pollution-free energy, a catalog of the world's resources and new metals and materials.

The payoff will be slow in coming, however.

Years may be required to evaluate completely the data obtained from the Skylab 1 and 2 crews and that still to come from Skylab 3. After the Skylab 2 astronauts returned to earth Tuesday after their record 59½-day mission, NASA Administrator James B. Fletcher summed up the importance of Skylab this way:

"Skylab marks the transition of the space program from a period dominated by exploration to a period dominated by exploitation of the space around us as a global resource.

"Space is a place, a very unique place and a new important resource that can be used for the benefit of people everywhere on earth ..."

Skylab 2 brought home 77,600 pictures of the sun snapped through six solar telescopes and more than 12,000 pictures and 18 miles of computer tape gathered during earth resources surveys.

Add to that 30,000 sun photos and 3,000 earth photos collected by the Skylab 1 crew, and scientists declared it a bonanza.

Perhaps, more important, the astronauts came back in apparent good health, proving that man can adapt to the weightless environment of space.

Watergate case

in political response to each of our political opponents," the Nixon speechwriter said.

The committee on Tuesday ended its lengthy examination of the Watergate break-in.

Convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. ended two days of testimony Tuesday, stating that the Watergate operation was lawful and that the break-in team was betrayed by a double agent for the Democrats.

Hunt, a former CIA agent, acknowledged undertaking a series of covert activities for the White House and for the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Committee sources said the panel has evidence linking Hunt to another break-in, this one at the embassy of Chile. But the matter was not brought up Tuesday.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. listed the aid the CIA is known to have supplied Hunt and other members of the White House Special Investigations Unit, aid used in the break-in of the office of the psychiatrist treating Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

Baker asked Hunt if he could state the CIA was not involved in other domestic activities.

"No, sir, nor can I say the CIA has ever stayed out of domestic activity," Hunt replied.

Hunt said he wanted to consult with his attorney on the national security aspects that might be involved in a more complete reply. Baker then excused him from answering.

Hunt said he directed the Ellsberg break-in and had asked his former CIA associates to help prepare a psychiatric profile on the former Defense Department official for use in undermining Ellsberg's position in the press.

Committee aides said Buchanan is being called as a witness to set the stage for the set of hearings dealing with political dirty tricks.

"It's not right to think that he was involved in dirty tricks himself," a committee aide said, and added:

"He was their strategist. He was their thinker. He set the tone. He wrote the memos on how to run a political campaign.

Buchanan, 34, has been associated with Nixon since 1966 and worked in his 1968 presidential campaign.

Hunt has been in prison under provisional sentence for more than six months and appeared tired and drawn as he ended his testimony.

At one point, he suggested strongly that former FBI agent Alfred C. Baldwin III, the lookout during the Watergate break-in, may actually have been working for Democrats.

Also killed was a 70-year-old Niles woman whose home was crushed by a metal storage bin.

Union Pacific Railroad officials said 30 cars of a freight train were blown off the tracks at Hanover.

At Salina, the storm hit a mobile home park, and authorities said virtually all 44 homes were damaged extensively or demolished. Another mobile home park at Bennington, north of Salina, was damaged.

Tornadoes were sighted in Oklahoma and Nebraska, and tornado watches were issued throughout the night from the Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma into southeast Nebraska and western Iowa.

Flash-flood warnings were issued for parts of Kansas and Nebraska. Moderate to heavy rains drifted slowly eastward.

Almost four inches of rain swamped Epley Airport in Omaha, Neb., and heavy rain was still falling. More than an inch was measured at Russell and Dodge City, Kan., and Lincoln, Neb.

Other thunderstorms lingered in southern Texas, along the central and southern Atlantic coastal plain, in Florida and in parts of the northern Great Lakes region. A few showers dampened the northern Rockies.

A subtropical depression with winds as high as 35 miles per hour gained strength about 100 miles off the Georgia coast. Tides of one to three feet above normal were expected along the Georgia and Carolina coasts.

Milk price spiral seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio consumers may be paying as much as 12 cents more a gallon for milk after Oct. 1 when dairy farmers begin charging more for their product.

The Central Ohio Co-operative Milk Producers and Great Lakes-Southern Milk cooperatives said Tuesday the price of milk sold to company buyers will be hiked 60 cents per hundredweight by farmers.

A spokesman for Borden, Inc., one such company buyer, said, "There will be definitely a larger increase than normal in the price of milk. It probably will be more than consumers are accustomed to."

The Borden spokesman, however, declined to say what the company will be charging for milk after Oct. 1.

An official of the Ohio Department of Agriculture said retail milk prices will go up about 12 cents a gallon, based on the increase to the farmers.

The new price will be $9.21 per hundredweight. The federal government has set the minimum price at $8.08.

Donald E. Zehr, general manager of the Central Ohio Co-operative, said the purpose of the hike is to make farmers' prices more current with market demands. Another purpose, he said, is to assure that milk supplies will be available.

Zehr noted milk production in Ohio is about 7 per cent lower than last year at the same time. He added that the current price hike is an incentive to dairy farmers to stay in the business.

DENVER (AP) — The mother of the Stanek sextuplets is resting at home today. Doctors say her five surviving babies will start to join her in about a month.

Edna Stanek, 34, wore a blue bathrobe as a nurse pushed her in a wheelchair to the door of Colorado General Hospital, where her husband Eugene waited with the family car.

"She is in fine health and getting along well," said Mrs. Stanek's obstetrician, Dr. Tibor Engel. He said he has prescribed no special precautions for her.

Governors hear Nader on A-plants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The chairman of the Western Governors' Conference says Ralph Nader's vow to halt the construction of nuclear power plants would, if successful, create "a crisis of the most immense proportions imaginable."

The consumer advocate told the governors Tuesday to expect a nationwide legal, environmental and governmental battle that could make the successful fight to halt the supersonic transport look like a spring picnic.

Nader's goal is to bring the nation's nuclear electric power program to a complete halt in five years.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall told Nader, "I think you could do it."

McCall, a Republican, continued: "But what will we do with this investment, what will we do with the need for this 75 million kilowats if you're successful?"

McCall talked of the fear that might grip the nation about atomic power plants and said: "It seems to me then we'll face a crisis of the most immense proportions imaginable."

The West's governors have looked to nuclear-generated power as a major source of electricity. There now are 36 nuclear plants across the country and 70 more are planned.

Nader said the loss of economic investment was worth the price in the face of the prospect of a disastrous nuclear accident.

He also accused the Atomic Energy Commission of "conscious deception, suppression and prevarication" in hiding the risk of danger in nuclear power production.

AEC Commissioner William Doub, the next speaker, immediately challenged Nader, saying Nader was confused in both his facts and opinion. He offered to open AEC files to any information Nader wanted short of atomic military secrets.

The National Weather Service promised Indian Summer conditions in Ohio today and Thursday, with a chance of a few scattered thundershowers developing in the afternoon and tonight, mostly confined to the northwestern counties.

Southerly winds flowing around the back side of a high pressure system centered over the east coast, and widespread sunshine will bring Indian Summer to the state, forecasters said. Afternoon temperature readings for both today and Thursday will climb into the 80s and lows will drop only into the 60s.

There were clear to partly cloudy skies over Ohio Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. While a few radar echoes were reported Tuesday night in the northwest corner of the state, no rainfall was measured on the ground.

Impeachment cases are initiated by the House and tried by the Senate.

The case has been simmering since first publicly disclosed Aug. 6.

On that day, Agnew announced that he had been notified by federal prosecutors in Baltimore that he was under investigation for possible violation of tax, bribery, extortion and conspiracy laws. Agnew has repeatedly proclaimed his innocence.

Tuesday morning Richardson and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen met with Nixon to evaluate the Agnew case for the President. Nixon then met with Agnew for more than an hour.

Richardson said that since Sept. 12 he had been meeting with other Justice Department officials, with Agnew's attorneys and with the vice president himself "to discuss procedural aspects of the case and options available to the vice president."

Richardson said the department agreed to the discussions in hopes of resolving "a constitutional dilemma of potentially serious consequence to the nation."

He did not elaborate but apparently referred to the constitutional question of whether a vice president can be indicted before he is impeached.

But, Richardson said, the discussions failed and the decision was made to go to the grand jury. He left open the question of whether the panel would seek an indictment.

"The grand jury will be used, in accordance with well-established practice, as an investigative body," Richardson's statement said.

A spokesman for Richardson later said evidence would be presented to the grand jury in its investigative rather than its indicting role, but noted that the panel already had indicted one Maryland official, Baltimore County Executive Dale Anderson.

Later in the day, following Agnew's trip to Capitol Hill, Nixon issued a strong statement of support for his vice president and a plea that Agnew be given the right to a fair hearing.

★★★★

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Carl Albert said today the House will take no action at this time on Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's request for an investigation of charges of kickbacks and bribery.

Agnew requested such a hearing in a letter to Albert on Tuesday. The vice president contends that a grand jury investigating the same allegations does not have the constitutional authority to do so as long as he is in office.

After a conference this morning with House Democratic leaders, Albert handed out a brief statement and refused to answer any questions.

"The vice president's letter relates to matters before the courts," the statement said. "In view of that fact, I, as speaker, will not take any action on the letter at this time."

Farm Progress Show highlights good year

LEBANON, Ind. (AP) — The traveling salesmen say this is a good year for dirt farmers in the outdoor food factory that stretches from Minnesota to the Carolinas.

It may even be a great year if there is a dry, warm late fall. That would reduce the need for short-supply propane gas and fuel oil used in grain dryers.

The massive dryers with their roaring heaters and batteries of fans are among the big tag items on display at the Farm Progress Show sprawling over the Hoffman family's 900 acres near Lebanon.

A $25,000 tag raises no eyebrows in the miles of tractors, tillage tools and harvesting machines.

As a matter of fact, none of the glittering equipment is for sale.

A Massey-Harris agent said the firm has a six-month backlog of orders for tractors and harvesters. Ron Smith of Des Moines, of the company's shows and exhibits department, had taken a swing through the Midwest and reported crops were maturing fast, although there is some late corn in northern Illinois.

Case, which makes no harvesters, was quoting January delivery dates for its popular four-wheel-drive Model 2470 tractor.

John Deere, one of the biggest farm machinery producers, is taking orders for combines it hopes to deliver in time to harvest next summer's wheat.

There was a lot of late planting this spring in low grounds and none at all in some of the Mississippi River bottoms swept by floods.

Don Pyle, a market specialist from Troy, Mich., said alternate wet and dry weather, followed by a heat wave in early September that reached into Canada, produced fast growth. Some corn is even ahead of normal maturity dates.

Several of the farm machinery men who travel the state fair circuit were amazed at soybeans' rush toward maturity in the last two weeks.

Both corn and soybeans are ripe enough for harvesting demonstrations on the Hoffman farm. They were planted in mid May.

Nobody reported a shortage of equipment to get in the fall grain crops. The heavy orders, after a decline in sales most places last year, caught the manufacturers by surprise.

It seems to be a matter of farmers' wants rather than desperate need. Prairie Farmer Magazine, which sponsors the big machinery show, noted in the current issue that buying expensive tools is helpful as a tax writeoff in a year of big gross farm incomes.

There is no admission charge, so no count of attendance, but it appeared at least 50,000 farmers and their wives trudged muddy streets of the temporary city Tuesday at the opening of the three-day show.

Hundreds of varieties of hybrid corn and soybeans, grown under identical conditions, attracted as much attention as the machinery. It was a sharp comparison and left little doubt which corn was subject to northern corn leaf blight. It was brown and droopy. Resistant corn still had some green leaves although the big yellow ears were drying fast.

A plowing demonstration with giant rigs was the center of attraction late Tuesday.

"Holy cow," one young matron exclaimed. "Twelve bottoms!"

A thorn with the rose

There is a small but quite sharp thorn on the stem of the rose which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has handed to Henry A. Kissinger. While the committee did vote to approve his confirmation as secretary of state, at the same time it undertook a study of surveillance of American citizens in connection with foreign policy-related activities.

Committee Chairman J.W. Fulbright said this action was not to be construed as implied criticism of the part Kissinger played in the wiretapping of government officials and newsmen. The timing of the resolution suggests at very least, however, that the committee wants to underscore its serious view of the wiretapping episode.

Announcement of the study could have been delayed for a month or so, but it was not. This suggests an intention to remind Kissinger — and, by extension, the President — that the committee has grave reservations about the use of electronic and other surveillance for this purpose.

These reservations became evident in the course of the hearings on the nomination. Such was the committee's concern that it arranged for a two-member subcommittee to examine an FBI summary of the wiretaps by way of determining Kissinger's part in ordering them. Not until the subcommittee reported that his role "was not such as to bar him from confirmation by the Senate" did the Foreign Relations Committee give its approval.

Apart from all this, it is gratifying to learn that a broad study of surveillance of American citizens in connection with foreign affairs is to be undertaken. When the report is in — assuming, of course, that all but the most security-sensitive parts of it are made public — that should provide much better perspective on this dubious practice.

The timid incumbents

WASHINGTON — Sens. Ervin, Baker, Weicker and thr rest of the pride of Watergate lions seem to be ready to turn into pussycats. The special Senate committee has delayed or abolished some of its plans and maybe there's a common reason.

The committee's new timidity coincides with its venture into the ferocious area of campaign financing. The dangers in this territory match all the perils offered by public boredom or President Nixon's intransigence.

There is no way to reform, there is no way to even discuss presidential campaign financing without discussing senatorial campaign financing.

THE PROBLEM of the Senate Committee is as stark as the Biblical admonition: Let he who is without campaign contributions cast the first stone.

As sterling gents as all the committee members may be, their political careers are not nourished by the donations of anonymous philanthropists. The people who financed their campaigns, like those who bankroll other campaigns, expect a return on their investments.

The influence of big money on politics is the single greatest curse on the Republic today. Campaign cash financed what happened at Watergate. Campaign cash in general breeds distrust and suspicion among voters, often for good reason.

The people doing more about this issue than anyone else are the quarter-million Americans who belong to Common Cause. A lengthy study on campaign finances by the citizens' lobby showed that not only is the President the object of large gobs of legal-tender goodwill; just about every incumbent is.

IN SENATE races last year, each incumbent raised an average of $525,809. The average challenger raised less than half that amount, $243,070.

"The money flows to incumbents because it is an incumbent who has the power to provide help and assistance," says Fred Wertheimer of Common Cause. "The result is that in Congress today we have neither a Democratic nor Republican party. Rather, we have an Incumbency party which operates a monopoly. The only solution is to enact a system for public financing of elections."

That is a fair challenge, to the timid members of the Watergate committee and to their more anonymous — and probably more venal — congressional brethren.

If the incumbency party cannot muster a majority for a sensible campaign reform bill, then voters can easily decide that incumbents shouldn't be incumbents anymore.

Our environmental elitists

Has anyone noticed how the elitists, people who have already "got theirs," tend to take over the environmentalist movement?

I first got on to this when the Sierra Club, which thinks that every last speck of wilderness should be preserved just as it is, went all out to stop the Walt Disney enterprises from building an attractive Alpine ski resort in the Sierrra Nevada mountains that would be within weekend driving range of Los Angeles.

The Sierra Club idea was to preserve the high Sierras for pack trips. But the number of people who can afford a pack trip is necessarily limited to a few who have both time and money to spend.

If the Sierra Club is to prevail in its philosophy, it will mean that nature will be reserved for a few lucky sons of the rich. The environmentalist's attitude here is anti-common man, a snob's reaction to the human situation.

Many people can afford ski weekends who can't afford pack trips.

THE AGITATION against the building of the Alaskan pipeline is another example of elitism. The very few who can afford to go and have a look at a caribou speak of the eerie beauty of the Arctic tundra. I would not despoil the tundra, and I am all for helping the caribou preserve their migratory patterns.

But ecology, which involves a study of the relationship of living organisms to their natural environment, assumes that men must live with other men as well as with animals they will never see. Human well-being in winter demands heat, and man's "migratory patterns," which are as important to most people as any food-seeking routes are to caribou, necessitate fuel for cars, planes, ships and trains.

Is it so cruel, then, to ask for a trade-off between caribou desires and human needs? Particularly when we are reassured that caribou have enough common animal sense to walk up an occasional ramp.

The ecological elitists would save every last redwood tree in California. I am certainly for preserving the best virgin forest stands, but not everybody can afford to go and look at a redwood. An East Coast dweller with no opportunity to take trips to California might be forgiven if he were to express his esthetic delight by ordering redwood paneling for a stay-at-home room.

Where does the balance lie here? The elitist would force everybody to find time and money to travel where the redwoods are.

The elitist, who presumably lives in a suburb where temperature extremes are not particularly onerous, objects to the strip-mining of Western low-sulfur coal to bring air-conditiong to big Eastern and Soutern cities. But the Western coal-bearing lands are relatively empty, and the nights are cruelly hot during an August torrid spell in New York City or Washington, D.C.

The elitist would let dwellers by the Hudson or the Potomac Rivers swelter. And this despite the fact that strip-mined territory can — and, indeed, should — be restored by methods that are already in use in a few enlightened places.

THE ECOLOGICAL ELITIST even seems to have a "thing" about poor folk in the so-called Third World. The millions who live in Africa, tropical Asia, and the islands of the South Seas have an ecological prejudice against yielding the dominance of their "ecosystems" to malaria-bearing mosquitos.

But the elitist in the non-malarial temperate zones of the West would deny the benefits of mosquito-killing DDT even to lands where there are no species of birds who would be harmed by it.

The trouble with the ecological elitists is that they don't realize that technological advance is absolutely necessary if the millions now inhabiting the globe are to go on living.

The elitists have theirs, and they don't care who else freezes.

Technology admittedly entails pollution, but technology can also accomplish its own marvels of preserving and recycling, and it is surely up to building a few ramps or underpasses for the caribou.

"EDITH, HAVE YOU WIRETAPPED MY TELEPHONE?"

Hal Boyle . . . Down Memory Lane with Hal

NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are among the few things that improve with age.

It's not only the good memories that get better. A memory that makes you cringe when young may make you laugh as you grow older and get more tolerant—and forgive yourself some of the indiscretions of youth.

Even the memories that gave you a sharp agony, like a nail thrust to the heart, tend to smooth out with the healing passage of time. Something that was once almost unbearable to remember later becomes, in its way, a kind of consolation to recall.

So do our memories become the tender keystones of our being, the part of ourselves that give us most of our individuality. At the end, we are our memories—and very little else.

You've got a good hoard of them if you can look back and remember' when:

A bug was an insect, not a device for listening to someone else's telephone conversations.

Children in rural America had to swallow a spring tonic made of sulphur and molasses. In England, it was called brimstone and treacle.

To achieve success in later life, a boy had to be born on a farm or, if born in the city, start delivering a newspaper route at an early age. The only other traditional way to launch his career was to sell the Saturday Evening Post to his neighbors on Saturday.

The village idiot—and few villages were rich enough to have two—served a highly useful social function. He made everyone else able to feel superior. His own ego-satisfaction came from the knowledge that he was by far the best-known person in town.

You could tell a priest by his collar and a nun by her habit.

A mother didn't like her daughter to have a date with any young man she had seen going into a pool hall or bowling alley.

The biggest family argument a girl who wanted a college education ran into was: "If you plan to get married, what good will it do you; and if you don't get married, what kind of life will you have?"

Most bartenders wore walrus mustaches and kept a baseball bat handy behind the bar to settle friendly disputes among the clientele.

A girl who dared to wear slacks to school would be sent home by the teacher with a firm note to her mother.

Men were banned from public beaches if they showed up in swim suits that left their chests bare.

Every other family in the neighborhood felt sorry for a family that had only one child.

There were more golden wedding celebrations in America than divorce parties.

Those were the days—remember?

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Readers defend girl's right to ride

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the 13-year-old Jewish girl who was chosen to represent her county in a horse show, but because it fell on the High Holy Days, her parents wouldn't let her: Now, I am a Jewish grandmother, and I think the girl should be allowed to ride on the holiday. Loving horses the way she does, if she is forced to miss this big event, she will grow to resent or even hate her Jewishness.

Some Jews think that going to the High Holy Day services makes them good Jews. I disagree.

I think your telling the child that she had no choice but to obey her parents was wrong.

LILY SELWYN, L.A.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the 13-year-old Jewish girl whose parents refused to let her ride in the horse show because it fell on the High Holy Days is one I would like to answer.

I understand exactly how that girl feels because I am a 14-year-old Jewish girl who also loves horses.

Since Yom Kippur is the Jewish holiday when Jews are supposed to fast, why not have the girl tell her parents that if they let her ride in the horse show on that day she will promise not to eat anything, and after she finishes with the show, the rest of the say she will observe the holiday the way her parents want her to?

ALSO JEWISH

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the Jewish girl whose parents wouldn't let her participate in the horse show on a Jewish holiday. The girl's resentment should be directed not to her parents or to the Jewish faith, but to the organization that scheduled the horse show on a Jewish holiday.

Calendars are available to all clubs and organizations showing the important religious holidays of all minority groups, so there is no excuse for scheduling an important event on a day that would conflict with one's religious observances. Would they have scheduled a horse show on Easter or Christmas?

With the increasing awareness of the rights of minorities, some progress has been made, but we still have a long way to go.

A CONSCIENTIOUS CATHOLIC

DEAR ABBY: Both your attitude and that of the girl's parents burned me up!

The girl obviously is extremely interested and involved in horses and horse shows. She has had to work very hard with her horse to be selected to represent her county. This is her passion, her main joy in life, and what she wants to devote her energies to.

She is an invididual, a complete human being-not the property of her parents. It would seem that parents should be glad that their child is involved in such a hard-working and constructive activity.

Judaism does not mean that much to the girl now. Have her own desires and opinions less value because she is younger than her parents?

The girl will give more thought and time to religion in her own time when she is ready for it. To frustrate the constructive, joyous energy in her now would be a mistake.

J.D.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 26, the 269th day of 1973. There are 96 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1777, British troops occupied Philadelphia in the American Revolution.

On this date —

In 1815, the Holy Alliance was formed by Russia, Austria and Prussia.

In 1907, New Zealand became a self-governing dominion within the British Commonwealth.

In 1915, the U.S. Federal Trade Commission was established.

In 1918, in World War I, the Allies launched an offensive that broke Germany's Hindenburg Line.

In 1919, President Woodrow Wilson collapsed aboard his private train after making 40 speeches on behalf of the Treaty of Versailles.

In 1950, U.N. troops in the Korean War captured the South Korean capital, Seoul, from the North Koreans.

Ten years ago: A three-man civilian government was sworn in the Dominican Republic after the military overthrow of president Juan D. Bosch.

Five years ago: George Ball resigned as ambassador to the United Nations to campaign for Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey.

One year ago: Presidential assistant Henry A. Kissinger was meeting with North Vietnamese representatives in Paris.

Today's birthdays: Pope Paul the VI is 76. Singer Marty Robbins is 48. Singer Lynn Anderson is 28.

Thought for today: It is better for a woman to marry a man who loves her than a man she loves — an Arab proverb.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nielsen ratings for "premiere week" this television season provided good news for CBS but potential problems for eight new series — four of which flopped, by ratings standards, on opening night.

When last year's season began, four new series were rated among the nation's most popular. This year, no new series started in the top 20 during the season's first week, according to Nielsen figures for Sept. 10-16.

The week's top-rated show was "Planet of the Apes," a CBS Friday night movie seen in an estimated 22.2 million homes. What this means is not clear, but you'd better ask your broker about banana futures.

The returns for the season's first week showed that viewers preferred old favorites by a wide margin, although the new shows may gain strength when the channel-flipping gets serious.

CBS won the first ratings round with 15 entries listed in the top 20. "All in the Family," a consistent winner last season, was rated as the nation's second most popular show after "Planet."

It was followed by six other CBS offerings, "M-A-S-H," "Hawaii Five-O," "Mary Tyler Moore," "CBS Tuesday Night Movie," "Bob Newhart" and "Barnaby Jones."

Then, according to the Nielsen list, came "ABC Thursday Night Movie," "Cannon," "Maude" and "Carol Burnett" (all three CBS), "Sanford & Son" (NBC), "ABC Sunday Night Movie," "Gunsmoke" and "The Waltons" (both CBS), "Ironside" (NBC), "Sonny & Cher" (CBS), "NBC Monday Night Movies" and "Lucy" (CBS).

At the bottom of the 58-program list was the Democratic party's fund-raising telethon, aired by NBC Sept. 15. It was seen in only an estimated 4.3 million homes between 8 and 11 p.m., Nielsen figures said.

During premiere week, NBC broadcast five new shows; CBS, two; ABC, one. Of these shows, CBS' "Calucci's Dept.," ABC's "Adam's Rib" and NBC's "Chase" and "Girl with Something Extra" laid rating eggs.

None reached or rose above 30 per cent in the category Nielsen calls "share of audience," or the estimated national percentage of viewers tuned to competing shows during a given hour.

Networks generally consider the 30 per cent mark the make-or-break point for a series, although it won't be known for at least a month if the four new series are in deep trouble or stand a chance of survival.

But "Calucci" and "Adam's Rib" got off to a particularly bad start, tying for 52nd place in the Nielsen rankings.

None of the four other new shows registered strongly, although they all at least reached or slightly exceeded the magic 30 per cent mark.

NBC's "Diana," starring Diana Rigg, did the best of the lot. It was ranked 29th among the 58 programs rated. CBS' "New Perry Mason" was installed in 31st place, and NBC's "Lotsa Luck" and "NBC Follies", in 32nd and 34th, respectively.

General Telephone talks broken off

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Renewed talks between General Telephone Co. officials and representatives of striking communications workers broke off early today, apparently without settlement of their 73-day contract dispute.

A company spokesman said there were indications no further meetings would be held until Oct. 4.

The firm and members of the Communications Workers of America appeared close agreement Tuesday. A union official said at the time the company was ready to offer a new proposal.

But sources on both sides refused to comment on specifics of the talks.

The new bargaining session was agreed to after a stormy session before the Ohio Industrial Commission.

Two officials for General Telephone walked out of the meeting at one point when commission members indicated they intended to review all aspects of the strike.

Andrew Jones, company attorney, said the company only agreed to arbitrate its charge that the CWA renigged on a handshake agreement the company claimed was reached earlier this month.

Jones returned to the meeting, however, to hear the union's attorney, Melvin Schwarzwald, ask the commission to postpone the hearing because "we feel an agreement is close."

Commission chairman Gregory Stebbins asked Jones: "Do you agree?"

Jones replied, "I would agree with what Mr. Schwarzwald said."

Stebbins continued the commission hearing until Oct. 4 pending settlement of the strike.

About 2,800 operators, clerks and installer-repairmen have been on strike since July 16.

Since then the company has reported more than $1 million in damage to cables and relay stations.

A 61-year-old Marion man died of a heart attack Monday when his wife could not call for help because of damaged telephone lines in the area, police said.

General Telephone claims an agreement was reached Sept. 11 with local union officials but then international officials backed out.

Election reform plans are studied

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Oct. 22 special session of the 110th Ohio General Assembly is being asked to enact election and campaign financing reforms that would be in effect for 1974 elections.

Gov. John J. Gilligan called the session and told the lawmakers it presents them an opportunity to week to restore public conficence in government.

"Never have we had a better opportunity, with a more receptive public atmosphere, to outlaw all the sleazy practices which have undermined our electoral system, and have shaken our people's faith in their government," Gilligan said.

Gilligan listed some of the proposals he wants to see enacted into law so they can be in effect at the outset of next year's campaigns. Bills require 90 days to become law unless they contain an emergency clause, and that takes a two-thirds vote of both houses.

A spokesman said a new campaign financing bill is being drafted by the administration. It is expected to be similar to one left pending in the House after being introduced by Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster.

Maddux's proposal places a 15 cent-a-voter limit on candidates for major races — such as governor, U.S. senator, congressman, or members of the legislature. An amoung equal to 1½ times the salary of the office sought is the amount that could be spent to run for auditor, treasurer, lieutenant governor, and attorney-general.

Gilligan also called for enactment by the special session of bills relaxing voter residency and registration requirements and extending voting hours.

These measures were approved by the House during the regular session this year but never made it through the Senate. They would:

—Reduce the voter residency requirement from six months to 30 days. Federal law already has been changed to make 30 days the requirement for voting in a presidential election.

—Reduce the period of time that lapses between primary and general elections. Primaries would be held in September instead of May in non-presidential years. In presidential years, they would be held on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in June.

—Permit door-to-door registration by "neighborhood" registrars who would be paid 10 cents for every voter they sign up. The same bill would eliminate failure to vote as a reason for cancelling registration, and permit the sick, elderly, or disabled to register by mail.

—Make recounts mandatory at public expense when the deciding margin of a candidate or an issue is less than one half of one per cent of the total votes cast.

Couple united in marriage in candlelight ceremony

Grace United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday evening, Sept. 22, for the candlelight wedding of Miss Mary Ann Hopkins and Mr. Phillip Wayne Bowers of Columbus. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. Hopkins, 660 Warren Ave., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Wayne Bowers of Chillicothe.

Nuptial music by Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, and Mr. Ralph May, vocalist, preceded the ceremony.

Seven branch candelabra decorated with pink bows and lavender asters, and altar vases filled with white gladioli, pink carnations and asters enhanced the latar. Lavender and pink bows trimmed the pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length princess gown of candlelight Alencon lace over satin. The high neckline and long sleeves were trimmed in satin with tiny selt-covered buttons down the front of the gown. Her veil of candlelight illusion was held by a chapel cap covered in matching lace and ended in a cathedral train. She carried a bridal bouquet of white Fuji mums centered with pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis, with eggshell ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Michael Flynn, matron of honor, wore a floral polyester floor length gown in shades of pink and lavender, fashioned in the empire style with short puffed sleeves. The bridesmaids dresses were styled like the honor attendant. The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Bower, sister of the groom, Miss Colleen Russell, Miss Lynn Alexander, Miss Diane Davis and Mrs. Steve Fligor, all of Columbus. The attendants carried hurricane lamps circled with lavender asters and pink sweetheart roses.

Michael Flynn served as best man. Ushers were John Hopkins, brother of the bride, Keith Putnam, cousin of the groom of Frankfort, Steve Lewis of Springfield; Tom Hixon of Greenfield and Jan Butts of Columbus.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length gown of pink polyester with an accordian pleated skirt and full chiffon sleeves, with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids. The mother of the groom wore a formal length, long sleeved gown with black bodice and black and white floral flounced skirt with matching accessories. Her corsage, too, was of pink cymbidoum orchids.

Grandparents of the bridal couple attending were Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, Mrs. S. Glenn Willson and Mr. and Mrs. V.T. Bowers. The grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception took place in Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with pink and lavender flowers, topped with a bouquet which matched the bridesmaids. Greenery with asters and roses circled the base of the cake. A crystal punch bowl and silver candleholders completed the setting.

Hostesses for the reception were Miss Terri Dumford, Miss Tova Woodmansee, Miss Dee Denen and Mrs. James Eubanks of West Virginia. Miss Sandy Rhoads presided at the guest book.

Out-of-town guests were from Sioux Falls, S. Dak., Pompano Beach, Fla., Greenville, S. Car., Chillicothe, Frankfort, Greenfield and Columbus.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Bowers are honeymooning at Niagara Falls and in the Eastern states. When they return they will reside at 2747 Coldstream Lane, Columbus.

Mrs. Bowers is employed by Dr. R. Whitmer. She is a 1970 graduate of Washington Senior High School and of Riverside Methodist School of Nursing.

He is a 1968 graduate of McClain High School and attended Morehead State University, Morehead, Ky., and the University of Cincinnati. Mr. Bowers works for the Col-Mer Company in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wayne Bowers were hosts at a dinner at the Terrace Lounge on Friday following rehearsal.

GIFT OR GIMMICK?

Do you buy only what you really want? Or do you sometimes get talked into something you had not planned to buy?

A "free gift" can be a gimmick to get you to buy something. The gift is yours if you will let the salesman make a sales presentation in your home or if you tour the new housing development. The offer may involve free magazines subscriptions if you pay the postage or a free wig if you pay $16.95 to have it set. In any case, the free gift has strings attached. . .something you must buy or a sales presentation to sit through before you quality for the free gift.

Another gimmick is a bait advertising used to draw customers to a store. The ad states a low, low price for merchandise — a room full of furniture, a sewing machine or a swimming pool. But when you ask to buy the item, it is disparaged, or it looks shabby. The salesman directs your attention to similar merchandise which is more appealing but sells at a much higher price. If you insist on buying too low priced advertised item, you may not even be allowed to buy it. It isn't really for sale, it is just bait to get you into the store where the salesman have orders to sell you higher price merchandise instead.

The bait ad and the free gift are just two of the techniques used to sell you merchandise you had not planned to buy.

Other techniques, as well as warning signals to help consumers recognize them, are a part of a training meeting on "Fraud and Deceit. . .Aimed at You" which will be presented on October 11 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Junior Fair Building, Clinton County Fairgrounds, Wilmington. Miss Norleen Ackerman, Extension Specialist in family and consumer economics at the Ohio State University, will present the program which is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service.

No pre-registration is needed. Lunch is available at local restaurants. A packet of teaching materials will be supplied for $1.00 to help participants share this information to their friends in organized groups.

The afternoon program "Think Metric" offers participants an opportunity to become familiar with the metric system now, allowing for a smoother change to metric units in the United States.

The United States is an island in a metric world. More than 90 per cent of the world now uses the metric system of weights and measures. It is predicted that by 1985 the use of meters, liters and grams will become a part of our daily routine as we join the rest of the world in using the standardized metric system.

We are using the metric system now in some areas. Our camers and the film we buy are likely to be 35 milimeter. For those who do home sewing, patterns are marked with seam allowances of 5-8 inch or 1.5 centimeters. Baby bottles are marked in ounces on one side and an cubic centimeters on the opposite side. In Ohio, a few new highway signs tell distances in kilometers, and Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium has been marked off in metric measure.

The opportunity is yours to become familiar with fraud schemes and the use of the metric system, Thursday, October 11, at the Clinton County Fairgrounds. The schedule is as follows: 9:00-9:30 a.m., registration; 9:30-11:30 a.m., "Fraud and Deceit. . .Aimed at You"; 11:30-12:30, lunch; 12:30-3:00 p.m., "Think Metric". # Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birhtday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, SEPT 27

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

You should have fairly clear sailing — especially in carefully organized ventures. Direct your innate aggressiveness toward worthwhile accomplishment.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

The importance you attach to some things may have to be shifted to more pertinent matters, but don't let fear of change or plain stubbornness hamper your efforts.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Good influences. A novel twist, a new approach to a stymied project could spark fresh interest, relieve the monotony of details. New gains indicated.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

You may find it desirable to make some changes in your program now, but be sure the alterations you make ARE an improvement.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Do not anticipate difficulties, but be prepared to forestall them. Continuing good solar influeces encourage your finest efforts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Not all you look at will be a you see it. Ask someone else what he thinks of matters and you will view a whole new picture.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A stimulating day, but don't let your enthusiasms cause you to take on more than you can handle. Easy does it!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Curb inclinations toward extravagance. If you overspend on credit or impulse buying now, you'll regret it later.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Like Scorpio, you, too, should watch your wallet. Not only may you feel reckless, financially, but there are some who would take advantage of your innate generosity.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good will built up in the past will prove an invaluable asset now. You gain added status nad importance in several areas.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Your imagination stimulated, but don't go to extremes in anything. Be especially careful on the social front where you COULD overtax yourself.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

An inspiring day for romance and creative activities. In the latter connection, an avocation may prove to have remunerative value.

YOU BORN TODAY: Librans are extremely versatile individuals, endowed with a great love of beauty and a natural ability to create things which fulfill this side of themselves and bring great pleasure to others. They are also fond of intellectual pursuits and are most content in work which permits them to profitably employ the mind. Many of thse born on this date have deeply religious and philosophical feelings and these are often expressed in their writings and art. Traits to curg: Moodiness and hypersensitivity.

Vinton school strike still not settled

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— School bells ring today in Youngstown for 24,000 youngsters who got an extra three weeks of vacation because of a school workers' strike.

Youngstown teachers voted Tuesday night to accept a new agreement with the school board, ending the strike that started Sept. 4, one day before school opened.

That left one teachers' strike still going in Ohio. That strike is in Vinton County in southern Ohio, where Supt. Kenneth Christopher said the schools would be kept open despite continued picketing by 86 teachers.

McArthur police were called to the high school Tuesday because of a disturbance involving the strikers' public address system.

The Vinton County Teachers Association filed a $1,275,000 damage suit in U.S. District Court in Columbus against police and the school board. The suit also asks an order restraining police and school officials from interfering with picketing.

The suit alleges that Police Chief Homer Hayburn and two other policemen assaulted three teachers with fists and clubs to keep them from operating the public address system outside the high school.

Hayburn is accused in the suit also of directing a school bus driver to run into teacher Robert Flesher in an earlier incident. Flesher was hospitalized with injuries Monday.

There was no comment immediately from Hayburn.

The teachers were fired Friday when they walked off the job in a dispute over school board dismissal policies.

Christopher said substitutes and some nonstriking teachers maintained classes as about one-third of the district's 2,200 pupils showed up for school Tuesday.

Hoffman jury listens to tapes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The prosecution was expected to resume calling witnesses today in the trial of Howard Hoffman III, accused in the March 14, 1971 killings of his parents.

The jury spent all day Tuesday listening to tapes of interviews made by Mentor Police with the 23-year-old Hoffman.

Visiting Lake County Judge John F. Clair ordered the tapes introduced as evidence after listening to them over the weekend.

Name school rep

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan has named Ruth S. Schildhouse, 45, an associate professor of social work at Ohio State University, as 12th District representative on the Ohio Board of Education.

Judge reports life threatened

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Federal authorities in Cleveland have been asked to investigate an alleged threat on the life of Coshocton County Common Pleas Court Judge Jack Young.

Young said he received a letter in the mail Tuesday bearing the name of a man he had sentenced last week to the Ohio Reformatory for armed robbery.

The Cuyahoga County sheriff's office said the 23-year-old man is in jail awaiting transfer to the reformatory in Mansfield and has been placed in isolation pending an investigation of the alleged threat.

Dairy outlook not bright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department economists are painting a contrasting picture about dairy farming.

It is bright if a farmer wants to sell out and take it easy and it's dark if he wants to stay in business.

The demand for meat is so great that farmers are tempted by high livestock prices and pusned by rising feed costs to sell out while the time is ripe.

But for the dairy farmer who has built his life and cow herd into a viable production force, soaring feed costs are putting him in an economic squeeze rarely seen in American agriculture in times of national affluence.

"For the rest of this year, milk production will likely continue well below year-earlier levels. Feed prices will stay well above a year earlier, although below summer highs," the Economic Research Service said Tuesday.

Describing the factors in a "dairy situation report," economists noted that total milk production will be down about three per cent from 1972 output.

"Despite record high milk prices, milk-feed relationships will remain relatively unfavorable to heavy grain and concentrate feeding," the report said. "Culling of dairy herds this fall and winter could stay heavy."

Declines in milk production generally have been widespread. In August, only six states reported increases from a year earlier. Production in Wisconsin fell substantially, with milk output per cow down seven per cent. California recorded a decline in July and August for the first time since 1969.

Banker Rotary speaker

"Create family power and conserve it," Jack Schenck, associated with the trust department of the Huntington National Bank, Columbus, told members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at their noon luncheon in the Country Club.

Schenck presented an interesting approach to what a trust fund can do for a business or professional man as he matched the energy crisis and power shortage with creating family power through trusts.

"Family life is really big business," Schenck pointed out as he stated that if an average income is $12,000 per year it would amount to about a half million dollars in over 40 years.

He said there should be no power shortage in a family as an individual can generate power by how hard he works and conserves this power by the way in which he arranges the later years of his life.

Schenck said it is through trusts that a businessman can provide and maintain family power after his death. He said bank trust departments manage funds, provide financial advice and take advantage of laws to conserve money in a person's estate and are particularly particularly involved in providing tax savings.

Schenck said trust funds can be as broad and as flexible as an individual desires, but he pointed out several wasteful examples to the Rotarians.

Paul Crosby, vice president of the club, conducted the business meeting and the program was arranged by Richard Whiteside.

Student guests were David Butterfield, of WSHS, and Gary Cobb, of MTHS. Other guests were Ron Warner with Bruce Ream, and Steve Yambor with Ron Ratliff.

Visiting Rotarians were Wade Pierce, of Cincinnati, Darrell French, of Wilmington, Jerry Ardrey, of London, and Larry Hughes, of Mount Sterling.

Coal gasification plant site eyed in Southeast Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Southeastern Ohio is being considered as a site for a coal gasification plant, state Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, said Tuesday.

Applegate said George Fumich, acting director of the coal research office in the Department of the Interior, had told him coal fields made the region a natural site for such a facility.

Fumich said the plant would be a joint project of the American Gas Association and the Natural Coal Gasification Program.

Applegate said he has been in touch with U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, who pledged support for locating the plant in southeastern Ohio.

Money said paid improperly by school

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Whitehall City School District has been ordered to recover $58,923 allegedly paid improperly to teachers and other staff members.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said Tuesday a check of the district's books for the period Oct. 1, 1969-July 10, 1972, uncovered 137 separate instances in which money was improperly paid for overtime, expenses and salaries.

The auditor's report referred to "lax operating procedures by the district board of education as well as an apparent lack of good accounting procedures by the former clerk-treasurer of the board, Harriet Hill Staats."

Mrs. Cunningham heads Cancer Unit

Mrs. Charles L. Cunningham, of Bloomingburg, was elected president of the Fayette County Unit of The American Cancer Society at the unit's annual meeting Tuesday evening. She succeeds Robert E. Minshall who has served for the past two years.

Meeting in the home of the executive director, Mrs. William L. Heinz, the unit also elected Bart E. Mahoney as vice president; Mrs. Robert Antoine, secretary, and Elmer N. Reed, treasurer.

Mrs. Cunningham has served as unit vice president the past two years and has been active in various capacities in the organization for 12 years. She is a member of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church and many community organizations such as the Ohio Child Conservation League, serving on the state level as district president.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham have three sons, two daughters, and two grandchildren.

THE NEW president announced the appointment of some of the major committee chairmen including: Paul V. Johnson, general Crusade chairman for 1974; Dr. Joseph Herbert, professional education; R.E. Minshall and Mrs. J.T. Taylor, public information; Mrs. Wayne Hidy, service chairman, and Mrs. D.E. Mossbarger, public education.

James Vess, 1973 Crusade chairman, reported that total contributions amounted to $11,989.14. He noted that, although this is under the 1972 figure by about $250, "it reflects generous giving by the people of Fayette County and many hours of hard work by about 500 volunteers."

Following the meeting a new film, just purchased by the Local unit, "For a Wonderful Life", was shown to the 22 persons at the meeting. The film covers the importance of early detection of uterine cancer in women and is available, along with the 25 to 30 other films, in the unit's library for showing to organizations and groups within the county.

Grand jury sets Ohio bribe case report Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury is expected to report Thursday on its investigation into alleged payoffs involving the Ohio Department of Commerce.

State employes, including Commerce Director Dennis Shaul, probably will be cleared by the panel, sources close to the investigation said.

But they did not comment on the possibility of an indictment against Anthony LaFatch, an Akron developer.

The FBI has said LaFatch solicited a $50,000 bribe from a Columbus firm with the intention of securing commerce department approval of a $10 million stock issue.

Union trustees meet routinely

The meeting of the Union Township Board of Trustees Tuesday night was devoted almost exclusively to routine matters, a general informal discussion of plans for the coming winter months and the approval of bills amounting to approximately $4,500.

Among the bills was the monthly (October) payment of $2,000 to Washington C.H. for fire protection. The three-year fire protection contract expires Dec. 31 and negotiations for another are already in the preliminary stages. The present contract calls for $23,300 a year. The board has had a policy of making the first month payment $1,300 and the subsequent 11 month's payments an even $2,000.

In the general discussion, it was brought out that the township roads are in basically good condition, but that the patching, weed and brush-cutting and roadside-mowing are continuing on a routine basis.

The two cemeteries, Sugar Creek Baptist, U.S. 35-N, and Sugar Creek Methodist, Palmer Rd., are also in good condition through continuing maintenance.

Vandalism incidents reported to sheriff

Gail Garringer, Jamestown, reported to the Sheriff's Department that someone had damaged a farm spreader by breaking pipes and cutting hoses Tuesday afternoon.

Harry Chakeres, CCC Highway-E, reported that someone entered the concession stand and broke glass out of a cigarette machine Sunday or Monday night. Nothing was taken.

Ohio man arrested for bank robbery

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — An Ohio man has been ordered held without bail pending a hearing on charges of robbing the South Providence Credit Union of $4,140 last May.

Willie Taylor, 36, of Cleveland, Ohio, was arraigned Tuesday in Sixth District Court after being turned over to Providence police by the FBI, which arrested him for unlawful flight.

Panthers seek third victory with road trip Friday night

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Writer

Miami Trace head football coach Fred Zechman takes his Panthers into battle again Friday night in what could be said to be the most important contest thus far in this young season.

Zechman's Panthers travel southeast Friday night for an 8 p.m. clash with the Chillicothe Cavaliers at Herrnstein Field.

ALL OTHER South Central Ohio League football teams will be launching their regular league schedules while the Panthers are battling Chillicothe, 1-2 on the season. Miami Trace will open its league season with Hillsboro Oct. 5.

Miami Trace, looking for its third win in four starts, will be up against an offensive attack at Chillicothe that is geared for crunching inside and explosive outside breakaway threats.

Chillicothe coach Kern McKee, in his second year, has had a rocky time getting the Cavaliers on the winning path. In the first contest this season, Chillicothe lost to powerful Jackson 28-12. The second game for the Cavaliers was another nightmare as the Washington C.H. Blue Lions, currently ranked second in the state, demolished Chillicothe 27-0. Then in the third game, Chillicothe snapped an eight-game losing streak over a two-season span by defeating winless Greenfield 14-0.

McKee, who started out the season using a two-platoon system, has changed his strategy by using seven players both ways, with the remaining four players being platooned.

Speedster Stacey Hitchens and powerful James Gause will provide the bulk of the Chillicothe attack. Hitchens, a 5-foot-9, 165-pound senior tailback, who is Chillicothe's outside threat, has scored five touchdowns of over 50-yards in the last 12 games. Hitchens also tossed a 38-yard touchdown pass in last Friday's game with Greenfield on an option play.

But, while planning a defense to contain Hitchens, Gause, who has recently been moved from fullback to a slot back position, provides the grueling inside attack. Gause, a 6-foot-2, 195-pound senior, was selected on the second team All Central Ohio League last season as a tight end.

Mike Ratzlaff, the veteran signal-caller for the Cavaliers, is back in good form after an early season injury. Junior Wayne Hitchens has been moved from the guard slot to fullback with junior Mike Walls filling the guard position.

With an offensive wall averaging 193 pounds across the front, the Cavaliers, have plenty of protection for their quarterback and have the potential of opening wide gaps in the line for the runners.

Defensively, where the Cavaliers employ an Oklahoma 5-2 formation, the line is packed with three 200-pounders in tackles Joe Deffenbaugh and Mark Shoemaker and end Jack Mahaffey. Jim Savage holds down the left end with Jim Moody at the middle guard position. Kirk Hitchens and Gause are the linebackers and Scott Brown is the monster with Randy Quesinberry, Jeff Hall and Mulane forming the defensive secondary.

DESPITE THE awesome defensive line, Jackson and Washington C.H. both proved the Cavalier defense very porous. Jackson totalled 352 yards on the ground and Washington C.H. running for 324 yards.

Coach Zechman, not planning any changes prior to Tuesday's practice session, said that the Cavaliers are about a 60 per cent different team since the start of the season and that he expects a very strong effort from them.

With no injuries hampering Miami Trace, fans can expect another hard-fought contest, hoping that the Panthers come out victors again.

MT game route

Fans attending the Miami Trace-Chillicothe game Friday night are advised of the following route.

Take U.S. 35 to the High Street exit. Follow High Street, passing through three stop lights, and turn right onto Arch Street. Herrnstein Field is located on Arch Street near Smith Junior High School.

Week's layoff, TCU worry Woody Hayes

CHICAGO (AP) — Nationally third-ranked Ohio State rested last Saturday, but Coach Woody Hayes doubts that will benefit his once-tested Buckeyes against Texas Christian at Ohio Stadium in Columbus this Saturday.

"We're in real good physical shape, but I don't think the layoff since our opener with Minnesota two weeks ago is any big advantage," Hayes told the Chicago Football Writers meeting Tuesday by telephone.

"The theory is that a team usually makes its biggest improvement between its first and second games of the season. That means we have to keep an edge for two weeks."

HAYES, whose well-manned Buckeyes rolled over Minnesota in a Big Ten opener, 56-7, on September 15, has been known to regard non-conference opposition lightly.

"I'll tell you we're paying attention to a non-conference team this Saturday," siad Hayes. "Texas Christian may be the best team in the Southwest Conference." TCU opened with a 49-13 rout of Texas-Arlington last week.

Ohio State passed only five times in subduing Minnesota behind a ground attack, led by quarterback Cornelius Greene, which rolled up 383 rushing yards.

"The fans are saying we should pass more and maybe we will, but our best passer, Greg Hare, still is injured and Greene will start against TCU," said Hayes.

Mike Ernst backs Ken Anderson

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Mike Ernst, acquired from Denver, will be backup quarterback to Kenny Anderson Sunday when the Cincinnati Bengals meet the Chargers at San Diego.

But the long, long-haired product of Cal Fullarton, is not expected to see action unless Anderson is hurt.

"It will take a full year for him to learn our system," said assistant coach Bill Walsh.

But Walsh said Ernst, in his second year, could be used if necessary. "We can learn enough so that if he had to go in we'd pattern the offense around what he can do."

Ernst is another in a series of quarterbacks Cincinnati has picked up in an effort to replace Virgil Carter, who is out for the season with a broken collarbone.

Greg Cook, attempting a comeback following a 1969 injury, will be moved back to the taxi squad, officials said. Jim Van Galder was released last week after a try.

"I'm just thankful for a chance to play football," said Ernst, who was fourth man with the Broncos.

The Bengals are hoping to be in better physical shape this week.

Vinton County plans game despite strike

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — Football Coach Joe Duncan is one of the 86 Vinton County High School teachers dismissed for striking but the school intends to play its game Friday night.

"If we have enough boys to play Friday, we'll play the game," said Kenneth Chrisopher, superintendent for the school district.

Vinton County is scheduled to play at home against Glouster this week.

Delaware continues to lead grid poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Delaware, following a 60-18 rout of Gettysburg, continued to lead The Associated Press College Division football poll today.

The Blue Hens, after running their record to 3-0 last Saturday, piled up 30 of 46 first-place votes and 843 points from a national panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Delaware has won the college division national title the last two years.

Grambling, with five firstplace votes and 732 points, remained in second place. The Tigers beat Morgan State 31-14 last Saturday for their third straight victory.

South Dakota, a 9-7 winner over North Dakota State, moved up one spot to third, while Tennessee State, a 23-20 victor over Texas Southern, fell one place to fourth. South Dakota picked up four first-place ballots.

Eastern Michigan, with one first-place vote, advanced from sixth to fifth on the strength of a 25-14 triumph over Indiana State. Hawaii, tied for 11th last week, was up sixth after beating Fresno State 13-10. The Rainbows earned two firstplace ballots.

Ashland, a 37-0 winner over Edinboro State, was seventh and Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo was eighth after topping Idaho State 20-10. Louisiana Tech was ninth following a 23-0 victory over Southwestern Louisiana, and Boise State, a 27-17 winner over Montana State, was 10th.

Rounding out the top 15 were Carson-Newman, McNeese State, which collected one firstplace vote, Northwestern Louisiana and, tied for 15th, North Dakota and North Dakota State.

Jacksonville State picked up two first-place votes and Northern Colorado got one, but neither team had enough points to get into the top 15.

Tourney set

SABINA — An ASA-sanctioned slo-pitch softball tournament, sponsored by the Sabina Moose Lodge, will be held this weekend in Sabina, according to Jack Merriman.

The drawing will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Moose Lodge. Teams wishing further information can contact Merriman by phoning 335-2964.

Billingham wins 19th

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Reds hurler Jack Billingham will have another crack at his "dream" Sunday, a chance to win 20 games for the first time.

But he scoffed at Manager Sparky Anderson's suggestion he might be a candidate for the National League's Cy Young Award for the best pitcher.

"I'd say," said Anderson, after Billingham collected his 19th victory Tuesday night over San Diego, 3-2, "if Tom Seaver, of the New York Mets, don't win it, they got to go to Jack. Look at the statistics, all of them. He rates."

"I don't consider myself the best," said Billingham, until this year a so-so pitcher in four years with Los Angeles, Montreal and Houston.

"You have to go to Seaver for that, but I'm getting to be one of the best."

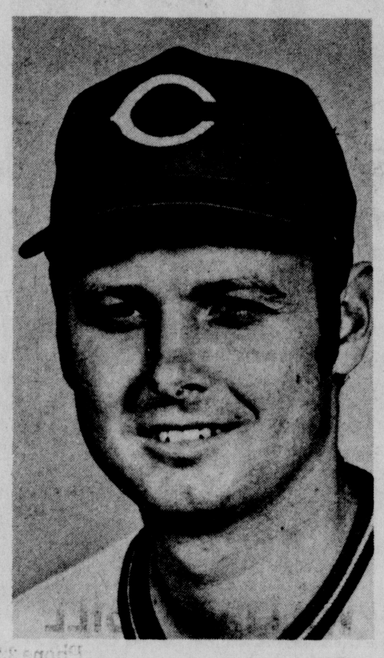
Billingham became the first Reds pitcher to finish 16 complete games since 1962 when Joey Jay and Bob Purkey finished 16 and 18.

Nate Colbert scored both Padre runs. The first on a triple by Ivan Murrell in the second inning. In the seventh inning he hit his 21st home run of the year, with none on base.

Colbert has now homered in four of the Padres last five games.

Ken Griffey singled off Bill Greif, 10-17, to open the sixth for Cincinnati and scored on Dan Driessen's double.

Two outs later Cesar Geronimo and Denis Menke hit back-to-back doubles to score the last two.



JACK BILLINGHAM

Billingham now leads all National League pitchers in total innings pitched with 275.

"Twenty wins is a dream," he said, noting that he had 13 victories at the All Star break. "I thought then I'd win 20 easy, but they're tough to get.

"I try not to think about it too much, but it's a goal of every pitcher.

"You start your career talking about goals—20 wins, All Star games, World Series...

"You think about the guys who make these things... 20 wins, it would be fantastic."

The game tonight is the season final between the two clubs with Ross Grimsley, 13-9, going to the hill for Cincinnati and Randy Jones, 5-6, for San Diego.

The New York Mets hold the upper hand in the National League East and are prepared to deal their aces in the remaining games of high stakes.

"The Met pitching is coming on strong now," says Manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies, assessing the wild pennant shuffle. "And pitching is very important in the stretch."

The front-running Mets strengthened their lead to 1½ games over Pittsburgh with a 2-1 decision over the Montreal Expos Tuesday night while the Phillies defeated the Pirates by the same score.

Tonight, the Mets will pitch right-handed star Tom Seaver against Montreal in the windup of their series at Shea Stadium.

"The Pittsburgh club definitely has the bats and good defense but I know (Manager) Danny Murtaugh is pressing for pitching," said Ozark. "They may be a little weak as far as putting a starting pitcher out there."

"We're going to have to go with what we have," said Murtaugh, who'll have to go with rookie Jim McKees against the Phillies tonight.

Still, Pirate center fielder Al Oliver wasn't discouraged over the situation.

"We've never been down on ourselves, even when things are were really going bad," said Oliver. "No one likes to lose, but the next day you have to snap back, and that's what we will do."

Sooners are picked over top-rated USC

NEW YORK (AP) — When you listen to the Southern California and Oklahoma people talk about each other, it's hard to tell who's No. 1.

"Whew!" gasps Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, whose eighth-ranked Sooners tangle with the top-rated Trojans in Los Angeles Saturday night. "What's there to say?

"They have a super, super team. For us to even have a chance to win we'll have to play a perfect game. We can't put the ball on the ground (fumble), we can't throw the interception, we can't make any errors at all and hope to win the game ..."

Whew!

Now lend an ear to Craig Fertig, a member of John McKay's staff at Southern Cal:

"Truthfully, this is one of the best football teams I've ever seen on film. They have everything, as far as offense goes, and they think they have the best defensive team they've ever had at Oklahoma, and that's saying quite a bit.

"We must maintain the football and not make mistakes as far as jumping offsides, clipping and holding penalties. We've got to play a perfect game on offense and not give them the ball. If you give them the ball consistently they're going to move it on you."

Whew!

There you have it. And now you're gonna get it ... the Upset Special of the Week ... Oklahoma 24, Southern Cal 21.

Whew! Choices in other top games:

Tennessee 21, Auburn 10—Bill Battle has lost five games in just over three years at Tennessee, and three of them were to Auburn. This time, Tennessee wins the Battle of Knoxville.

Texas 24, Texas Tech 14— After losing to Miami, the Longhorns will have their eyes rolled up like bee-bees at home in Austin.

Notre Dame 35, Purdue 7— Ara Parseghian and Alex Agase played with the Cleveland Browns a long time ago and coached together at Northwestern. In fact, Agase succeeded Parseghian there and right now he's probably wishing he'd stayed there, although ND crushed NU 44-0 last Saturday.

Houston 35, Memphis State 14— Losing to Memphis State last weekend was the kiss of death for Mississippi's Billy Kinard. Not to worry, Bill Yeoman.

Miami, Fla. 28, Florida State 13—Are the Hurricanes for real after upsetting Texas? Tune in next week when they play Oklahoma.

Georgia 28, North Carolina State 27—Georgia catches the Wolfpack coming off Nebraska ... but the Bulldogs may be looking ahead to Alabama.

MT's Players of Week

A junior and a senior have been selected Miami Trace's Players of the Week for their outstanding performances in the Panthers' 29-0 victory over Columbus Bishop Ready last Friday night.

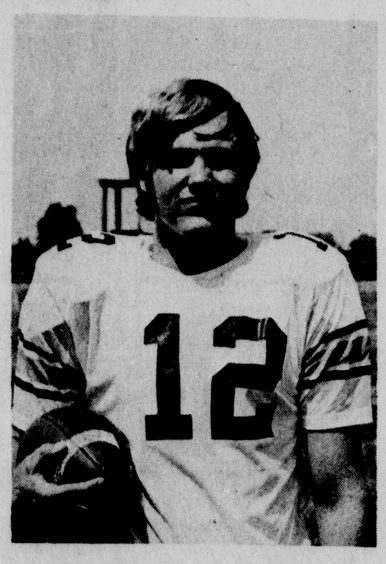
Quarterback Tom Riley and tri-captain Doug Ford were singled out by the Miami Trace coaching staff for honors in the Record-Herald's third weekly poll.

RILEY, a 165-pound junior, was named the top offensive player of the week. The stocky Panther signal-caller connected on nine of 12 passes for 109 yards. Passing at a 75 per cent clip, Riley, connected for three touchdownp passes of 13 yards, five yards and four yards.

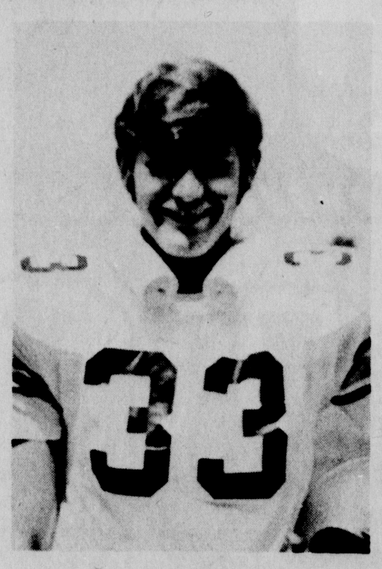
Riley was also responsible for nine more points on the scoreboard as he ran for one touchdown and an extra point and kicked one extra point.

Jay Mossbarger, a 180-pound junior, was also instrumental in the Panther victory. Mossbarger was on the receiving end of all three of the touchdown passes and totalled six catches for 81 yards.

Ford, a 185-pound fullback and defensive back, was named top defensive player of the week. Ford, who had previously been named offensive player of the week the first two weeks, had a fine defensive game against Bishop Ready.



TOM RILEY



DOUG FORD

THE TALENTED senior led the team in defensive points, number of tackles and received the team's "big lick" award both for offensive and defensive prowess.

Ford was also excellent on pass coverage, which caused Bishop Ready to have three interceptions and only 10 completions in 31 attempts.

The Panthers, now 2-1 on the season, travel to Chillicothe Friday night for an 8 p.m. contest with the Cavaliers at Herrnstein Field. The game will be the last non-league tuneup for Miami Trace before the Panthers open their South Central Ohio League schedule against Hillsboro next week.

Opening lead - two of diamonds.

There is a vast difference between playing a hand when you see all 52 cards, and playing a hand when you see only 26.

But bridge being the kind of game it is, you are expected to play the great majority of hands just as effectively, seeing 26 cards, as seeing all 52.

Suppose you're South in this deal and West leads a diamond. Obviously the deuce is a singleton and the entire problem is to escape the loss of two diamond tricks.

The outlook is certainly not promising. The only real hope is to find the hearts divided 3-3 and so get rid of your diamonds on the hearts, but even that possibility can't mature unless you can also overcome the problem of finding an entry to dummy after you've established the hearts.

A little ingenuity, however, will do the trick, You win the diamond lead with the ace, play a heart to the king and lead a low trump. When West produces the queen, you let him win it!

This extraordinary play puts West out of commission. If he returns a heart, you ruff it and make the rest of the tricks by later discarding three diamonds on dummy's hearts.

If he returns a club instead of a heart, the outcome is the same. You ruff in dummy and establish the hearts to make the contract.

In either case, the ace of spades provides the crucial entry to dummy to cash the hearts after they are established. But if you don't allow West to win a trick with his queen of spades, the hand collapses of its own weight and you lose the slam.

Heart Murmur Worries Her

I am engaged to a girl who is almost obsessed with the idea that she will not be able to have children because she has a heart murmur.

I must get this matter cleared up because I am afraid it may even keep her from marrying me.

Mr. B.R., Calif.

Dear Mr. R.:

You are astute in trying to settle this important problem now rather than wait until after marriage.

The fact that this fear persists in your fiancee indicates that her emotional distress should have been handled many years ago.

Now, with your support and level-headed judgment, you can bring her the emotional comfort that has been denied her for so long.

The fact that she is otherwise in good health indicates that the heart murmur is probably incidental and insignificant.

Many people with "functional" heart murmurs go through their entire lives without the slightest problem.

A functional murmur is one that has no basic underlying disease of the heart.

A thorough checkup of the heart, which apparently is long overdue, will give her the assurance she needs. This, combined with your understanding, will set the pathway for a happy courtship, a happy marriage, and pregnancy free from anxiety.

It will give her a greater sense of security to know that women with real heart ailments safely go through their pregnancy and childbirth without any extra strain on their hearts.

When women, with or without heart murmurs or a heart condition, are carefully observed throughout their pregnancy, the possibility of complications is minimized.

WSHS bandsmen preparing for two appearances

The Washington Senior High School marching band has been busy for the last 10 days preparing for two major performances — the first at the football game here Friday night between the Blue Lions and Golden Eagles from Madison Plains, and the second at the Ohio Wine Festival Saturday at Morrow.

For the halftime show at the football game here Sept. 14, the band surprised a capacity crowd with its "Script Ohio", a formation made famous by the Ohio State University band.

Friday night's halftime show will bring its formation closer home with "Lions" in script. Charles Shaffer, band director, admitted the formation was not exactly simple to work out with only a week of practice, and added that he was very pleased with the performance. He commented that, unfortunately, the formation appears less well defined from the low-level perspective of the Gardner Park stadium then from the altitude of the big stadiums.

THE BAND will leave here at 10 a.m. Saturday for Morrow where it will participate in the Wine Festival in competition with several other high school bands. This will be the WSHS band's third appearance at the festival. It took top honors in the competition at both previous performances.

The drill team, composed of 25 girls under the direction of Miss Nancy Karaffa, will accompany the 72-piece band, including the majorettes, to Morrow. The material for the drill team's costumes arrived only this week, and Shaffer and Miss Karaffa have their fingers crossed and hoping that they will be ready by Saturday.

The WSHS Band Boosters, at a meeting Tuesday night, voted to buy two used trombones for use by both the junior and senior high school bands. These are to be used by students who feel they cannot afford to buy one themselves and for those who might want to shift from another instrument.

The Boosters also approved chevrons for the rank commanders and band officers. The chevrons, white on the blue uniforms, will reach almost from the shoulder to the elbow, similar to those used by West Point cadets.

Walking Horse sale Saturday

Between 35 and 40 Tennessee Walking Horses will be offered to the highest bidder at the Ohio Valley and Buckeye Walking Horse sale Saturday afternoon at the state Fairground, Columbus, Herman Ingram, CCC Highway-W, sale manager, said.

They will be consigned by owners in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana dnd Michigan and will include pleasure and show horeses, show prospects, broodmares and stallions.

Although there are approximately 65 youngsters enrolled in the five 4-H horse and pony clubs in Fayette County, most of them what are termed "usin' type" riding horses, Ingram said. Not many have registered (or eligible to register) horses.

Ingram, who has a mantle full of trophies won by his horses, has taken top honors in many shows. A professional Walking Horse trainer and dealer, he is now getting into the breeding phase of the business at his farm.

Another Fayette Countian, Emerson Marting, a registered Hereford cattle breeder and feeder at his farm, CCC Highway-W, and a widely known auctioneer and after-dinner speaker, will be the auctioneer at the Saturday Walking Horse sale.
